Russian Jeeps Raid American Zone In Berlin

Cause No Trouble; Red Police Stoned By Band Of Youths

BERLIN, Sept. 16 (AP) — Soviet jeeps patrolled Berlin's sector borders and made several quick incursions into American territory today after a band of youths stoned Communist-controlled police.

The jeep raids caused no trouble, though a Soviet soldier fired one shot over the head of a German thief near the American sector.

Soviet patrols were in force as West Berlin anti-Communists held a funeral for a victim of the East-West cold war—a 16-year-old German youth killed in the climax to last Thursday's anti-Soviet mass meeting when Soviet Russian soldiers and their police fired into the crowds.

The patrols were believed to have been instituted when it was arranged to have the funeral cortege pass near the Soviet sector. These plans, however, had been changed.

Youths Stone Soviet Police

United States military police said the Soviet jeep manned by an officer and a soldier invaded the American sector near Potsdamerplatz but withdrew before United States patrols could reach the spot.

Earlier, the Soviet-controlled press reported that a crowd of about 150 Berlin youths attacked and stoned three police in the Soviet sector who were passing a black market center.

The Soviet press said the youths were "incited by older people," and that 15 of the rock-throwers along with one of the adults were arrested. The youths later were released, the press report said.

This was the third stoning of Communist-controlled police and soldiers in recent weeks. The first two such incidents brought gunfire retaliation from the Soviet side. The second incident last week resulted in the 16-year-old youth being killed and about 20 injured.

City Official's Trial Adjourned

An east sector policeman also was manhandled today when he tried to stop a truck carrying "black market goods," the Soviet-licensed new agency reported.

German city hall officials said the Soviet trial of a German city official, Dr. Curt Mueckenberger, had been adjourned shortly after it opened yesterday because a witness failed to appear. Mueckenberger, former city coal chief, was fired by the Russians and arrested a month ago. He had insisted on taking four-power orders instead of Russian orders. The Americans have denounced his trial as illegal.

The trial appeared to be an effort to terrorize into obedience the few remaining non-Communist city officials in the Soviet sector.

WEDDED AGAIN-- Wealthy Francis Hitchcock and his miner's daughter bride, former Stephany Saja, cut their wedding cake at a reception in a private club near Deland, Fla., following a Greek Orthodox wedding ceremony today. They eloped to Folkston, Ga., last night and were married in a simple civil ceremony there. (Story at bottom of page)

Countrywide Phone Strike Today Averted

Company And ACEW Workers Agree On Variable Pay Hike

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—A countrywide strike of 25,000 telephone workers set for tomorrow morning was averted today.

After all-night negotiations, company and union representatives met again and compromised. They agreed on a variable pay raise of from eight to 15 cents an hour for the workers, who make telephone equipment.

The agreement must be ratified by members of the union, the CIO American Communication Equipment Workers' (ACEW). A union leader predicted it would be approved, but the voting will take about three weeks.

Other Phone Disputes Remain

The union negotiated with the Western Electric Company for workers in 43 states and the District of Columbia.

The agreement does not involve an equal number of long distance telephone operators in the same areas. Their union, the CIO American Union of Telephone Workers, yesterday resumed wage talks with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company long lines department. Western Electric is a subsidiary of A. T. and T.

An ACEW spokesman said today's agreement would mean an average raise of 11 cents an hour, or $4.40 a week. Previous wages, he said, averaged $1.15 an hour, or $46 a week.

Ernest Weaver, union president, said however:

"We are not satisfied with this settlement, even though it is, to our knowledge, the best made by any Bell System company."

Strike Call Postponed

But he added, the strike call was "postponed indefinitely."

He did not say what the objections to the terms were.

Recall Of Four 'Forced,' State Dept. Declares

Quartet's Treatment By Security Police Called "Inexcusable"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—The United States today accused Romania's Communist government of forcing the recall of four members of the American diplomatic mission in Bucharest last week by charging them falsely with spying.

The four—two officials of the legation and two women clerks — were detained overnight by Romanian secret police in the city of Giurgiu. They were reportedly denied food and water for 16 hours and otherwise treated in a matter which the American government denounced "inexcusable."

The State Department made public notes exchanged on the subject between the American minister in Bucharest, Rudolf E. Schoenfeld, and the Romanian Foreign Ministry. At the same time the department released a statement which dwelt at length on the methods of he secret police.

The complaint of espionage was based on a charge that the four had made photographs in a forbidden area. Romania demanded that they be withdrawn. The United States complied with the demand but rejected "as contrary to fact" the charge that forbidden pictures were taken.

Incident Started Sept. 6

The incident started September 6 when Wayne W. Fisher, third secretary and vice consul of the legation; Paul H. Green, an attache, and two clerks, Miss Ruth V. Garr and Miss Peggy M. Maggard, left Bucharest to visit Alexandria, the Danube River port of the city of Giurgiu. Traveling in an automobile bearing diplomatic tags, they arrived at Alexandria about 6 p. m.

On the way, the State Department said, they had made seven photographs of an ox cart and peasant, a herd of water buffalo and a native well. All the pictures were taken "more than 30 miles from Giurgui" and no additional ones were taken.

After a brief visit in Giurgiu, they asked a traffic policeman for directions back to Bucharest. A man in civilian clothes jumped on the running board of the car and gave them the impression that he would assist in finding the way.

When he simply directed them around the city square, they became suspicious that he was a police agent and Green thereupon produced his diplomatic passport and demanded the right "to proceed without hindrance." The man on the running board produced credentials showing him to be a member of the security police and insisted that the four Americans accompany him to headquarters.

Two Keep Watch In Auto

Green and Miss Maggard went to police headquarters, while Fisher and Miss Garr kept watch in the automobile. The Romanians insisted that the Americans turn over their camera, and on two occasions Romanian agents tried to pull open the car door. Each time it was pulled shut by the Americans.

The State Deuartment said Green tried several times to telephone the American legation at Bucharst but was denied permis- (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

U. N. Council Accepts Hyderabad's Appeal

Votes 8-0 To Take Up Plea For Help Against Invasion

PARIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council voted 8 to 0 today to take up Hyderabad's appeal for help against India's invasion.

Then the council recessed until Monday while Indian troops closed in on the military center of Secunderabad, a major objective.

Both Hyderabad and India were heard briefly by the council after a tangled debate on whether to take up the question at all.

It was the first full-dress performance by the United Nations in the newly decorated Palais De Chaillot and the Oriental tone of the decorations fitted the oriental dispute.

The Hyderabad delegation headed by Foreign Minister Nawab Moin Nawaz Jung appealed for "action swift and determined."

In answer India's Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar told the council that Hyderabad was not a sovereign nation and for that reason the Security Council had no right to intervene.

Earlier, he had told newsmen the clash was a domestic question, not an international war.

The Nawab asked the council to stop the war at once and end this "premeditated aggression."

Nothing in the relations of the two territories, he said, gave India "the right to send troops into Hyderabad to preserve order." He said India had violated a standstill agreement as a "scrap of paper."

If the council would require India to get out of Hyderabad, he said his country would agree to "closely integrated co-operation with India."

Hardest Fighting Yet To Come

NEW DELHI, Sept. 16 (AP)—Indian military reports said tonight invading forces had pushed to less than 50 miles east and 63 miles west of the capital city of Hyderabad.

Press reports from Poona, jumping-off point for the Indian army's thrust on the west, said the hardest fighting is yet to come, however.

These reports said Hyderabad state forces were falling back on all fronts in an orderly fashion and everywhere were intact. These forces would be available for the decisive fighting on the central plateau. Hyderabad state troops, which include infantry, armored cars and horse cavalry, and Razakars (Moslem volunteers) were reported digging in on a 30 to 40-mile perimeter around Hyderabad and Secunderabad, and resistance was growing.

The impression was widespread that the Indian army's timetable called for victory in less than a week. The campaign was launched Monday.

The Razakars were reported being employed chiefly in sniping from wooded positions. Where supported by state troops they were said to be fighting well, but a number surrendered when left to hold positions independently.

Symphony Boss Says Din Driving Country Crazy

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Reginald Stewart, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and qualified thereby as one of the more deft producers of sound, said today that noise is driving the whole country crazy.

"Americans like noise," he said. "It gets worse every year. I think we'll all end up in mental homes."

Stewart passed his judgment upon returning from a brief vacation on Cape Cod.

79 Are Rescued From Two Ships

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — The Coast Guard and two merchant ships teamed up today in violent seas to rescue 79 seamen from two vessels in the North Atlantic. Seven men were believed lost.

Both rescues took place within a few hours. A badly listing British freighter was contacted 750 miles east of New York while a fishing craft, wallowing in the high seas, was reached about 390 miles northeast of the freighter.

The veteran Coast Guard cutter Bibb removed 40 crewmen from the Portuguese fishing schooner Gaspar. One man was lost overboard from the Gaspar before rescue of the remaining men by the Coast Guard.

The American freighter Cecil N. Bean and the Argentine freighter Tropero took a total of 39 seamen from the sinking British freighter Leicester. Six of the freighter's men were presumed lost.

Battling the high waves and gale, 20 Leicester crewmen reached the Bean in lifeboats while 19 others, including the freighter's captain, H. N. Lawson, were taken aboard the Tropero in similar fashion.

Accounts of the rescues were given in radio messages to the Coast Guard here.

Md. Military Budget Up

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Maryland Military Department filed a budget proposal today calling for expenditure of $1,054,341 during the two years starting next July 1.

The request, filed with the State Budget Bureau, exceeds the department's current budget by $399,068.

Dewey Wins Support Of Former Opponent

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 16. (AP)—Republican Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey won the support today of a man who ran against him for Governor in 1942.

Dean Alfange, an executive committee member in the Liberal Party of New York, thus split with his party.

The Liberals recently endorsed President Truman.

Alfange said he would campaign for Dewey but would remain a member of the Liberal Party.

He announced his decision after conferring with Dewey and just before the New York Governor had a long talk with Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.).

Metal Workers' Strike Adds To Queuille's Woes

PARIS, Sept. 16 (AP) — Several hundred thousand Paris metal workers struck today, adding to the increasing woes of French Premier Henri Queuille.

The metal workers strike was scheduled to last only until tomorrow. Communist sources claimed 400,000 workers left their jobs, but it was impossible to confirm this.

Gold Admits He's 'Commie,' Denies Reds Run Union

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Ben Gold, Communist president of the CIO Fur and Leather Workers' Union, denied today that the union is dominated by the Communist Party.

He also told a House Labor Subcommittee, which is looking into reports of Red infiltration into the union, that past violence in the fur industry should be laid directly to employers who, he said, hired gunmen in an effort to break up the union.

Although he himself was until recently a member of the Communist Party's National Executive Committee, Gold declared:

"The Communist Party doesn't dominate and my union is not dominated by any party."

Gold told the committee he has been a member of the Communist Party for more than a quarter-century.

Although he protested that the question about his party membership, asked by Rep. Lucas (D-Tex), infringed his constitutional rights, he shouted:

"My political affiliation is a matter of public knowledge. I have never denied it, and I never will."

Replying to another question by Lucas, Gold said:

"I'll bear no arms against any nation that the warmakers want us to attack, but if we are invaded I'll give my life."

And, at another point in his two-hour testimony, the fur union president declared:

"I give you my Communist word of honor that we will fight to the death against any Fascist conspiracy to overthrow a democratically elected government. We are opposed to force and violence."

Just before Gold testified, Sam Mencher, a vice-president of the union, was told to stand down from the witness seat after he refused to state whether he is a Communist. Like Sam Burt, another union vice-president who refused to answer a similar question yesterday, Mencher based his stand on constitutional grounds.

Russia Demands End To U. S. Ban On Jap Strikes

Panyushkin Charges FEC Policy Violated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — (AP) — Russia today demanded that the American ban on strikes of government workers in Japan be lifted along with other "repressive measures" against labor.

The demand was made at the regular weekly meeting of the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission, top policy-making agency for the Pacific, by Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin, Russia's representative on the FEC.

The strike ban was ordered by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied Supreme Commander in Japan, on July 22 and put into effect by a Japanese government ordinance July 31.

FEC Makes No Comment

Panyushkin charged that this violated the 1945 Potsdam declaration and existing policies of the FEC, which call for formation of trade unions in occupied Japan.

Russia has been attacking the order in Tokyo and over the Moscow radio for weeks.

The FEC made no immediate comment on today's demands.

Recently, Secretary of the Army Royall said the Army does not feel that MacArthur has violated either FEC or United States policies in forbidding government strikes.

"The Soviet delegation considers that the Far Eastern Commission cannot by-pass such a gross violation by the Supreme Commander" of FEC policy, Panyushkin said in a statement today.

He asked the commission to "request" MacArthur to revoke the no-strike directive.

Panyushkin Accuses Sebald

He also proposed that "repressive measures" against the workers and employes of governmental enterprises and institutions should be discontinued.

Panyushkin accused William Sebald, United States chairman of the Allied Council, of giving a distorted version of FEC policy directors to a special August 28 meeting in Tokyo.

The ambassador, saying that 400 persons have been arrested up to September 1 in connection with the Japanese government strike situation, added:

"No police or other government agencies should be employed in spying on workers, breaking strikes, or supressing legitimate union activities."

Police Of 14 States Alerted For Fugitive

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Police of 14 states were alerted today for a 22-year-old convict who escaped from the Maryland State Penitentiary last night.

The convict, William G. Chesser, made his getaway by scaling the prison wall with a 22-foot hooked pipe, officials reported. They said he stole the pipe from a prison building project.

National Unity Plea Is Voiced By Warren

California Governor Opens GOP Campaign On Homespun Note

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 16 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren tonight appealed to the American voter, in a "world beset by fear," not to permit political passions of the 1948 campaign to disrupt national unity or play into the hands of those "preaching the doctrine of fear."

The Republican vice presidential candidate declared Americanism and governmental principle were not the "patent" of any single political party.

The American people "know that good Americans are to be found in both parties," he declared in a prepared address.

"They know that party affiliations does not change human instincts, or affect loyalty to country, or transcend the fond hopes of Americans for their children."

It was on a homespun note of political virtue and bi-partisan national unity that the California Governor opened the Republican election campaign.

His speech here in the auditorium of South High School was the first key address in a coast-to-coast campaign swing starting yesterday at Sacramento, and scheduled to continue until late October.

"I believe," Warren said, "tha our best chance of preserving responsible government under the two-party system depends upon how wholesome our campaigns can be, how free they are from the prejudice of party, class or race, and upon the extent to which we can unify, rather than divide, our people."

But to preserve the traditional American concept of the two-party system, Warren urged a return to the old-fashioned virtues of thrift and competence in government after 16 years of Democratic Party "curealls x x x, nostrums and expedients."

This return, he said, the Republican Party was prepared to achieve under the leadership of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential standard bearer.

Campaign To Warm Up
[By The Associated Press]

The presidential campaign warms up in earnest this weekend. All four members of the Truman-Barkley and Dewey-Warren teams will take to the stump.

President Truman will leave Washington today for a 16-day campaign tour that will take him to the West Coast and back. His Democratic running mate, Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, returned to the United States from Rome yesterday and promptly announced a 15-speech, eight-state tour of the East and a stop in North Carolina.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, devoted some thought to farm problems before taking off (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

"Smears" Threat To Atom Program, Lilienthal Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—David E. Lilienthal said today the United States atomic program is "in a dangerous situation" because of growing reluctance of top scientists to accept government jobs.

This reluctance is caused in part by the risk of attacks from "petty or prejudiced or malevolent sources," said the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

He added the atomic program must move forward or "to pot." He hinted the latter might happen if the government has trouble getting top men.

"It is this that makes the present situation grave and ominous," he told the centenary meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He did not mention specific attacks upon the loyalty of some atomic scientists, but he said:

"The possibility of public pillory, so often unjustified and beyond immediate redress, does indeed cast a shadow of fear over public service."

Informed of Lilienthal's speech, Rep. McDowell (R - Pa), acting chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, told reporters he just did not think it was true that the committee's inquiry into alleged atomic espionage is imperilling the atomic program.

"It's a 100 per cent political statement," McDowell said.

Youth's Blow May Cost Minister Eye

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — A clergyman may lose his right eye because of a blow struck by a youth he befriended, police said today.

The clergyman is Rev. James I Ellis, 55. He is in Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. Physicians said there's little hope of saving sight in the eye.

The youth, George Junior Holt, 21, is under $3,000 bond on a charge of mayhem.

Detective E. E. Ernst gave this account:

Holt was placed in Rev. Ellis' custody by juvenile authorities and made his home with the clergyman for three years.

A year ago Holt stopped working. He was unemployed until about a week ago when Rev. Ellis got him a job as a surveyor's assistant. Holt worked at the job one day. Then quit. He also moved from the clergyman's home.

Last night the youth returned to the clergyman's home to get a .22 caliber rifle. Rev. Ellis tried to persuade Holt not to take it. At this point Holt struck the clergyman with the rifle.

Man Gets Head Locked In Power Shovel Bucket

MATEWAN, W. Va., Sept. 16 (AP)—Ed Taylor drove into town yesterday to get his mail and parked beside tracks where a railroad crew was digging a ditch with a clam shell power shovel.

A switching engine struck the shovel car, the boom swung around and knocked down a utility pole. A network of tele phone lines whipped down on top of Taylor's car.

He opened the door and stuck his head up to see what was going on. The clam shell banged down on top of the car and locked his head inside the bucket.

The bucket didn't close completely, but it took half an hour to get Taylor's head out. He wasn't seriously injured.

Dwarf Beats Housewife, Then Shoots Her Husband

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—A hammer-swinging negro dwarf critically battered a young housewife today and then shot her medical student husband after a vicious hand to hand struggle in a dark apartment.

Furnished with a description of the prowler—a dwarf with a big head—police seized Floyd Conners, 21, who is four feet two inches tall and weighs 105 pounds. Police Capt. John Enright said Conners stated orally that he assaulted the couple.

The vicitims are John Stephenson, 26, a University of Illinois medical student, and his wife, Elizabeth, 21, University of Illinois research Laboratory worker. Stephenson is in critical condition. His wife suffered a possible skull fracture. She is unconscious and in critical condition.

Socialite And His Bride From Coal Fields Re-wed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Socialite Francis Hitchcock and his blonde bride from the Pennsylvania coal fields were re-wed today at her wish with the solemn rites of the Greek Orthodox Church.

The ultra-exclusive Kentucky-Florida Club a few miles from Deland was the scene of the ceremony, in sharp contrast to last night's simple nuptials in the tiny town of Folkston — the "Gretna Green" of Georgia.

Tall Stephany Saja, 23, wore a white lace gown fitted with an off shoulder Bertha collar, a fingertip length tulle veil, and a tiara of mother of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white tube roses and an orchid.

For the ceremony last night which climaxed a surprise elopement, she was clad in slacks and a print blouse.

The couple plan a honeymoon trip to Rio De Janiero. At Miami, Pan American World Airways said they had made reservations to leave at 8:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow, reaching their destination at 8:45 p. m. (EST) Saturday.

The polo playing Hitchcock and his bride are expected to arrive at Miami by private plane shortly before their scheduled departure, PAA said. It was not known how long they plan to remain in South America.

Today's rites were performed before the club fireplace by Father Demosthenes J. Mekras, Greek Orthodox minister of Miami. The scene was framed with white flowers and green ferns.

Best man was John Kalas, of Daytona Beach, and the bride's maid of honor was her sister, Nancy Saja, of New York City. Col. Arch Wall of Wilbur-by-the-Sea, near here, gave the bride away.

33 Soldiers Hurt When B-29 Bomb Sticks Fall

EGLIN FIELD, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Thirty-three Army infantrymen were hurt today, 12 of them seriously, when several bomb sticks from a B-29 fell in a troop concentration, Air Force officers said.

Those injured included a white officer and 32 negro enlisted men. They were members of the 3rd Battalion, 505th Airborne Regiment, and Company B, 758th Heavy Tank Battalion from Fort Bragg, N. C.

The troops were taking part in a fire power rehearsal when the accident occurred, officers said. The bombers were from MacDill Field at Tampa.

Mother, Son She Insisted Would Be Found, Reunited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Murdock—who had insisted for 18 months that her missing son would be found—took him into her arms tonight with the exclamation:

"This is the happiest day of my life.

"I knew we'd find you someday."

And the 20-year-old moustached young man, Edward (Jack) Murdock, who had told reporters his travels had taken him from Virginia to the Gulf states and Ireland, replied:

"The next place I'm going is home with you, Mom," and hugged his mother.

Mrs. Murdock's husband Joseph, a theater manager in Uniontown, Pa., got the first word today of Jack's having been found. The lad walked away from Fork Union (Va) Military Academy 18 months ago and hadn't been heard from until he called an aunt in Washington by telephone.

He didn't get the aunt, but he did get Mrs. Sarah Feltner, who had known his mother many years. When she inquired who was calling the aunt, Mrs. Ina Pumphrey, the lad told her it was "a cousin." She asked "is it Jackie" and he said it was.

A few minutes later, at her request, he met her and it was at her apartment that he met his parents.

Immediately after the first call from Jack, Mrs. Feltner called his father. After Jack met her, the lad talked to his father by telephone.

Jack said he was headed for New Orleans, which he said was a favorite city of his.

"Something, something—I don't know what," he told reporters, made him decide to call Mrs. Pumphrey. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 3)

Russian Jeeps Raid American Zone In Berlin

Cause No Trouble; Red Police Stoned By Band Of Youths

BERLIN, Sept. 16 (AP) — Soviet jeeps patrolled Berlin's sector borders and made several quick incursions into American territory today after a band of youths stoned Communist-controlled police.

The jeep raids caused no trouble, though a Soviet soldier fired one shot over the head of a German thief near the American sector.

Soviet patrols were in force as West Berlin anti-Communists held a funeral for a victim of the East-West cold war—a 16-year-old German youth killed in the climax to last Thursday's anti-Soviet mass meeting when Soviet Russian soldiers and their police fired into the crowds.

The patrols were believed to have been instituted when it was arranged to have the funeral cortege pass near the Soviet sector. These plans, however, had been changed.

Youths Stone Soviet Police

United States military police said the Soviet jeep manned by an officer and a soldier invaded the American sector near Potsdamerplatz but withdrew before United States patrols could reach the spot.

Earlier, the Soviet-controlled press reported that a crowd of about 150 Berlin youths attacked and stoned three police in the Soviet sector who were passing a black market center.

The Soviet press said the youths were "incited by older people," and that 15 of the rock-throwers along with one of the adults were arrested. The youths later were released, the press report said.

This was the third stoning of Communist-controlled police and soldiers in recent weeks. The first two such incidents brought gunfire retaliation from the Soviet side. The second incident last week resulted in the 16-year-old youth being killed and about 20 injured.

City Official's Trial Adjourned

An east sector policeman also was manhandled today when he tried to stop a truck carrying "black market goods," the Soviet-licensed new agency reported.

German city hall officials said the Soviet trial of a German city official, Dr. Curt Mueckenberger, had been adjourned shortly after it opened yesterday because a witness failed to appear. Mueckenberger, former city coal chief, was fired by the Russians and arrested a month ago. He had insisted on taking four-power orders instead of Russian orders. The Americans have denounced his trial as illegal.

The trial appeared to be an effort to terrorize into obedience the few remaining non-Communist city officials in the Soviet sector.

Hyderabad state troops, which include infantry, armored cars and horse cavalry, and Razakars (Moslem volunteers) were reported digging in on a 30 to 40-mile perimeter around Hyderabad and Secunderabad, and resistance was growing.

The impression was widespread that the Indian army's timetable called for victory in less than a week. The campaign was launched Monday.

The Razakars were reported being employed chiefly in sniping from wooded positions. Where supported by state troops they were said to be fighting well, but a number surrendered when left to hold positions independently.

Symphony Boss Says Din Driving Country Crazy

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Reginald Stewart, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and qualified thereby as one of the more deft producers of sound, said today that noise is driving the whole country crazy.

"Americans like noise," he said. "It gets worse every year. I think we'll all end up in mental homes."

Stewart passed his judgment upon returning from a brief vacation on Cape Cod.

79 Are Rescued From Two Ships

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — The Coast Guard and two merchant ships teamed up today in violent seas to rescue 79 seamen from two vessels in the North Atlantic. Seven men were believed lost.

Both rescues took place within a few hours. A badly listing British freighter was contacted 750 miles east of New York while a fishing craft, wallowing in the high seas, was reached about 390 miles northeast of the freighter.

The veteran Coast Guard cutter Bibb removed 40 crewmen from the Portuguese fishing schooner Gaspar. One man was lost overboard from the Gaspar before rescue of the remaining men by the Coast Guard.

The American freighter Cecil N. Bean and the Argentine freighter Tropero took a total of 39 seamen from the sinking British freighter Leicester. Six of the freighter's men were presumed lost.

Battling the high waves and gale, 20 Leicester crewmen reached the Bean in lifeboats while 19 others, including the freighter's captain, H. N. Lawson, were taken aboard the Tropero in similar fashion.

Accounts of the rescues were given in radio messages to the Coast Guard here.

Md. Military Budget Up

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Maryland Military Department filed a budget proposal today calling for expenditure of $1,054,341 during the two years starting next July 1.

The request, filed with the State Budget Bureau, exceeds the department's current budget by $399,068.

Dewey Wins Support Of Former Opponent

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 16. (AP)—Republican Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey won the support today of a man who ran against him for Governor in 1942.

Dean Alfange, an executive committee member in the Liberal Party of New York, thus split with his party.

The Liberals recently endorsed President Truman.

Alfange said he would campaign for Dewey but would remain a member of the Liberal Party.

He announced his decision after conferring with Dewey and just before the New York Governor had a long talk with Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.).

Metal Workers' Strike Adds To Queuille's Woes

PARIS, Sept. 16 (AP) — Several hundred thousand Paris metal workers struck today, adding to the increasing woes of French Premier Henri Queuille.

The metal workers strike was scheduled to last only until tomorrow. Communist sources claimed 400,000 workers left their jobs, but it was impossible to confirm this.

Socialite And His Bride From Coal Fields Re-wed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Socialite Francis Hitchcock and his blonde bride from the Pennsylvania coal fields were re-wed today at her wish with the solemn rites of the Greek Orthodox Church.

The ultra-exclusive Kentucky-Florida Club a few miles from Deland was the scene of the ceremony, in sharp contrast to last night's simple nuptials in the tiny town of Folkston — the "Gretna Green" of Georgia.

Tall Stephany Saja, 23, wore a white lace gown fitted with an off shoulder Bertha collar, a fingertip length tulle veil, and a tiara of mother of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white tube roses and an orchid.

For the ceremony last night which climaxed a surprise elopement, she was clad in slacks and a print blouse.

The couple plan a honeymoon trip to Rio De Janiero. At Miami, Pan American World Airways said they had made reservations to leave at 8:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow, reaching their destination at 8:45 p. m. (EST) Saturday.

The polo playing Hitchcock and his bride are expected to arrive at Miami by private plane shortly before their scheduled departure, PAA said. It was not known how long they plan to remain in South America.

Today's rites were performed before the club fireplace by Father Demosthenes J. Mekras, Greek Orthodox minister of Miami. The scene was framed with white flowers and green ferns.

Best man was John Kalas, of Daytona Beach, and the bride's maid of honor was her sister, Nancy Saja, of New York City. Col. Arch Wall of Wilbur-by-the-Sea, near here, gave the bride away.

33 Soldiers Hurt When B-29 Bomb Sticks Fall

EGLIN FIELD, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Thirty-three Army infantrymen were hurt today, 12 of them seriously, when several bomb sticks from a B-29 fell in a troop concentration, Air Force officers said.

Those injured included a white officer and 32 negro enlisted men. They were members of the 3rd Battalion, 505th Airborne Regiment, and Company B, 758th Heavy Tank Battalion from Fort Bragg, N. C.

The troops were taking part in a fire power rehearsal when the accident occurred, officers said. The bombers were from MacDill Field at Tampa.

Countrywide Phone Strike Today Averted

Company And ACEW Workers Agree On Variable Pay Hike

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—A countrywide strike of 25,000 telephone workers set for tomorrow morning was averted today.

After all-night negotiations, company and union representatives met again and compromised. They agreed on a variable pay raise of from eight to 15 cents an hour for the workers, who make telephone equipment.

The agreement must be ratified by members of the union, the CIO American Communication Equipment Workers' (ACEW). A union leader predicted it would be approved, but the voting will take about three weeks.

Other Phone Disputes Remain

The union negotiated with the Western Electric Company for workers in 43 states and the District of Columbia.

The agreement does not involve an equal number of long distance telephone operators in the same areas. Their union, the CIO American Union of Telephone Workers, yesterday resumed wage talks with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company long lines department. Western Electric is a subsidiary of A. T. and T.

An ACEW spokesman said today's agreement would mean an average raise of 11 cents an hour, or $4.40 a week. Previous wages, he said, averaged $1.15 an hour, or $46 a week.

Ernest Weaver, union president, said however:

"We are not satisfied with this settlement, even though it is, to our knowledge, the best made by any Bell System company."

Strike Call Postponed

But he added, the strike call was "postponed indefinitely."

He did not say what the objections to the terms were.

The union's starting demand had (Continued on Page 15, Col. 8)

Gold Admits He's 'Commie,' Denies Reds Run Union

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Ben Gold, Communist president of the CIO Fur and Leather Workers' Union, denied today that the union is dominated by the Communist Party.

He also told a House Labor Subcommittee, which is looking into reports of Red infiltration into the union, that past violence in the fur industry should be laid directly to employers who, he said, hired gunmen in an effort to break up the union.

Although he himself was until recently a member of the Communist Party's National Executive Committee, Gold declared:

"The Communist Party doesn't dominate and my union is not dominated by any party."

Gold told the committee he has been a member of the Communist Party for more than a quarter-century.

Although he protested that the question about his party membership, asked by Rep. Lucas (D-Tex), infringed his constitutional rights, he shouted:

"My political affiliation is a matter of public knowledge. I have never denied it, and I never will."

Replying to another question by Lucas, Gold said:

"I'll bear no arms against any nation that the warmakers want us to attack, but if we are invaded I'll give my life."

And, at another point in his two-hour testimony, the fur union president declared:

"I give you my Communist word of honor that we will fight to the death against any Fascist conspiracy to overthrow a democratically elected government. We are opposed to force and violence."

Just before Gold testified, Sam Mencher, a vice-president of the union, was told to stand down from the witness seat after he refused to state whether he is a Communist. Like Sam Burt, another union vice-president who refused to answer a similar question yesterday, Mencher based his stand on constitutional grounds.

Russia Demands End To U. S. Ban On Jap Strikes

Panyushkin Charges FEC Policy Violated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Russia today demanded that the American ban on strikes of government workers in Japan be lifted along with other "repressive measures" against labor.

The demand was made at the regular weekly meeting of the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission, top policy-making agency for the Pacific, by Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin, Russia's representative on the FEC.

The strike ban was ordered by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied Supreme Commander in Japan, on July 22 and put into effect by a Japanese government ordinance July 31.

FEC Makes No Comment

Panyushkin charged that this violated the 1945 Potsdam declaration and existing policies of the FEC, which call for formation of trade unions in occupied Japan.

Russia has been attacking the order in Tokyo and over the Moscow radio for weeks.

The FEC made no immediate comment on today's demands.

Recently, Secretary of the Army Royall said the Army does not feel that MacArthur has violated either FEC or United States policies in forbidding government strikes.

"The Soviet delegation considers that the Far Eastern Commission cannot by-pass such a gross violation by the Supreme Commander" of FEC policy, Panyushkin said in a statement today.

He asked the commission to "request" MacArthur to revoke the no-strike directive.

Panyushkin Accuses Sebald

He also proposed that "repressive measures" against the workers and employes of governmental enterprises and institutions should be discontinued.

Panyushkin accused William Sebald, United States chairman of the Allied Council, of giving a distorted version of FEC policy directors to a special August 28 meeting in Tokyo.

The ambassador, saying that 400 persons have been arrested up to September 1 in connection with the Japanese government strike situation, added:

"No police or other government agencies should be employed in spying on workers, breaking strikes, or supressing legitimate union activities."

Police Of 14 States Alerted For Fugitive

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Police of 14 states were alerted today for a 22-year-old convict who escaped from the Maryland State Penitentiary last night.

The convict, William G. Chesser, made his getaway by scaling the prison wall with a 22-foot hooked pipe, officials reported. They said he stole the pipe from a prison building project.

National Unity Plea Is Voiced By Warren

California Governor Opens GOP Campaign On Homespun Note

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 16 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren tonight appealed to the American voter, in a "world beset by fear," not to permit political passions of the 1948 campaign to disrupt national unity or play into the hands of those "preaching the doctrine of fear."

The Republican vice presidential candidate declared Americanism and governmental principle were not the "patent" of any single political party.

The American people "know that good Americans are to be found in both parties," he declared in a prepared address.

"They know that party affiliations does not change human instincts, or affect loyalty to country, or transcend the fond hopes of Americans for their children."

It was on a homespun note of political virtue and bi-partisan national unity that the California Governor opened the Republican election campaign.

His speech here in the auditorium of South High School was the first key address in a coast-to-coast campaign swing starting yesterday at Sacramento, and scheduled to continue until late October.

"I believe," Warren said, "tha our best chance of preserving responsible government under the two-party system depends upon how wholesome our campaigns can be, how free they are from the prejudice of party, class or race, and upon the extent to which we can unify, rather than divide, our people."

But to preserve the traditional American concept of the two-party system, Warren urged a return to the old-fashioned virtues of thrift and competence in government after 16 years of Democratic Party "curealls x x x, nostrums and expedients."

This return, he said, the Republican Party was prepared to achieve under the leadership of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential standard bearer.

Campaign To Warm Up
[By The Associated Press]

The presidential campaign warms up in earnest this weekend. All four members of the Truman-Barkley and Dewey-Warren teams will take to the stump.

President Truman will leave Washington today for a 16-day campaign tour that will take him to the West Coast and back. His Democratic running mate, Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, returned to the United States from Rome yesterday and promptly announced a 15-speech, eight-state tour of the East and a stop in North Carolina.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, devoted some thought to farm problems before taking off (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

Man Gets Head Locked In Power Shovel Bucket

MATEWAN, W. Va., Sept. 16 (AP)—Ed Taylor drove into town yesterday to get his mail and parked beside tracks where a railroad crew was digging a ditch with a clam shell power shovel.

A switching engine struck the shovel car, the boom swung around and knocked down a utility pole. A network of tele phone lines whipped down on top of Taylor's car.

He opened the door and stuck his head up to see what was going on. The clam shell banged down on top of the car and locked his head inside the bucket.

The bucket didn't close completely, but it took half an hour to get Taylor's head out. He wasn't seriously injured.

"Smears" Threat To Atom Program, Lilienthal Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—David E. Lilienthal said today the United States atomic program is "in a dangerous situation" because of growing reluctance of top scientists to accept government jobs.

This reluctance is caused in part by the risk of attacks from "petty or prejudiced or malevolent sources," said the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

He added the atomic program must move forward or "to pot." He hinted the latter might happen if the government has trouble getting top men.

"It is this that makes the present situation grave and ominous," he told the centenary meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He did not mention specific attacks upon the loyalty of some atomic scientists, but he said:

"The possibility of public pillory, so often unjustified and beyond immediate redress, does indeed cast a shadow of fear over public service."

Informed of Lilienthal's speech, Rep. McDowell (R - Pa), acting chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, told reporters he just did not think it was true that the committee's inquiry into alleged atomic espionage is imperilling the atomic program.

"It's a 100 per cent political statement," McDowell said.

Youth's Blow May Cost Minister Eye

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — A clergyman may lose his right eye because of a blow struck by a youth he befriended, police said today.

The clergyman is Rev. James I Ellis, 55. He is in Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. Physicians said there's little hope of saving sight in the eye.

The youth, George Junior Holt, 2i, is under $3,000 bond on a charge of mayhem.

Detective E. E. Ernst gave this account:

Holt was placed in Rev. Ellis' custody by juvenile authorities and made his home with the clergyman for three years.

A year ago Holt stopped working. He was unemployed until about a week ago when Rev. Ellis got him a job as a surveyor's assistant. Holt worked at the job one day. Then quit. He also moved from the clergyman's home.

Last night the youth returned to the clergyman's home to get a .22 caliber rifle. Rev. Ellis tried to persuade Holt not to take it. At this point Holt struck the clergyman with the rifle.

Recall Of Four 'Forced,' State Dept. Declares

Quarlef's Treatment By Security Police Called "Inexcusable"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—The United States today accused Romania's Communist government of forcing the recall of four members of the American diplomatic mission in Bucharest last week by charging them falsely with spying.

The four—two officials of the legation and two women clerks—were detained overnight by Romanian secret police in the city of Giurgiu. They were reportedly denied food and water for 16 hours and otherwise treated in a matter which the American government denounced "inexcusable."

The State Department made public notes exchanged on the subject between the American minister in Bucharest, Rudolf E. Schoenfeld, and the Romanian Foreign Ministry. At the same time the department released a statement which dwelt at length on the methods of he secret police.

The compiaint of espionage was based on a charge that the four had made photographs in a forbidden area. Romania demanded that they be withdrawn. The United States complied with the demand but rejected "as contrary to fact" the charge that forbidden pictures were taken.

Incident Started Sept. 6

The incident started September 6 when Wayne W. Fisher, third secretary and vice consul of the legation; Paul H. Green, an attache, and two clerks, Miss Ruth V. Garr and Miss Peggy M. Maggard, left Bucharest to visit Alexandria, the Danube River port of the city of Giurgiu. Traveling in an automobile bearing diplomatic tags, they arrived at Alexandria about 6 p. m.

On the way, the State Department said, they had made seven photographs of an ox cart and peasant, a herd of water buffalo and a native well. All the pictures were taken "more than 20 miles from Giurgui" and no additional ones were taken.

After a brief visit in Giurgiu, they asked a traffic policeman for directions back to Bucharest. A man in civilian clothes jumped on the running board of the car and gave them the impression that he would assist in finding the way.

When he simply directed them around the city square, they became suspicious that he was a police agent and Green thereupon produced his diplomatic passport and demanded the right "to proceed without hindrance." The man on the running board produced credentials showing him to be a member of the security police and insisted that the four Americans accompany him to headquarters.

Two Keep Watch In Auto

Green and Miss Maggard went to police headquarters, while Fisher and Miss Garr kept watch in the automobile. The Romanians insisted that the Americans turn over their camera, and on two occasions Romanian agents tried to pull open the car door. Each time it was pulled shut by the Americans.

The State Deuartment said Green tried several times to telephone the American legation at Bucharst but was denied permis- (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

Dwarf Beats Housewife, Then Shoots Her Husband

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—A hammer-swinging negro dwarf critically battered a young housewife today and then shot her medical student husband after a vicious hand to hand struggle in a dark apartment.

Furnished with a description of the prowler—a dwarf with a big head—police seized Floyd Conners, 21, who is four feet two inches tall and weighs 105 pounds. Police Capt. John Enright said Conners stated orally that he assaulted the couple.

The vicitims are John Stephenson, 26, a University of Illinois medical student, and his wife, Elizabeth, 21, University of Illinois research Laboratory worker. Stephenson is in critical condition. His wife suffered a possible skull fracture. She is unconscious and in critical condition.

Mother, Son She Insisted Would Be Found, Reunited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Murdock—who had insisted for 18 months that her missing son would be found—took him into her arms tonight with the exclamation:

"This is the happiest day of my life.

"I knew we'd find you someday."

And the 20-year-old moustached young man, Edward (Jack) Murdock, who had told reporters his travels had taken him from Virginia to the Gulf states and Ireland, replied:

"The next place I'm going is home with you, Mom," and hugged his mother.

Mrs. Murdock's husband Joseph, a theater manager in Uniontown, Pa., got the first word today of Jack's having been found. The lad walked away from Fork Union (Va) Military Academy 18 months ago and hadn't been heard from until he called an aunt in Washington by telephone.

He didn't get the aunt, but he did get Mrs. Sarah Feltner, who had known his mother many years. When she inquired who was calling the aunt, Mrs. Ina Pumphrey, the lad told her it was "a cousin." She asked "is it Jackie" and he said it was.

A few minutes later, at her request, he met her and it was at her apartment that he met his parents.

Immediately after the first call from Jack, Mrs. Feltner called his father. After Jack met her, the lad talked to his father by telephone.

Jack said he was headed for New Orleans, which he said was a favorite city of his.

"Something, something—I don't know what," he told reporters, made him decide to call Mrs. Pumphrey. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 3)

Maine's Election Results Impressive

Maine, the only state to elect its state officials and members of Congress earlier than November, has just weighed in with what the Associated Press dispatch calls "a Republican grand slam."

The old adage, "As Maine goes, so goes the Nation," has been disproved a number of times since 1884, inspiring Jim Farley's famous quip in 1936, "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont." But the size of the G. O. P. majority in Maine in September remains a reliable barometer of the national results in November.

Representative Margaret Chase Smith, first Republican woman to be elected to the United States Senate and the first of her sex to be elected without having first served by appointment, has scored a nearly three-to-one victory over her Democratic opponent. Mrs. Smith's majority of more than 92,000 betters the 20-year record of 82,000 set in 1928. The gubernatorial victory for the G. O. P. was approximately two-to-one, and the congressional results about the same.

Mrs. Smith is regarded as something of a Republican "maverick." In 1947 she favored extension of social security and opposed reduction of the Truman budget. On the other hand, she campaigned by attacking the Truman Administration for its blunders in dealing with Soviet Russia, and blamed current high prices on Administration policies. Mr. Truman has been desperately trying to fix the blame for high prices on the Republican Party. Maine is emphatically not convinced.

The old axiom about Maine should be made to read, "If Maine goes Republican by more than 65 per cent, the Democrats lose the Nation." Maine has gone Republican this time by considerably more than 65 per cen.t If statistical evidence means anything, it will be a landslide for Dewey and Warren in November.

The claim that the meek will inherit the earth has been amended. Science says only anemics will survive atomic rays.

House Committee May Have "Struck Pay Dirt"

The hearings before the House un-American Activities Committee haven't produced any fireworks during the past week. But from behind the closed doors of the committee have come enough sparks to indicate that an explosion may be in the making.

After weeks devoted to investigating Communism in other government departments, the committee has turned its attention to Red penetration of atomic energy research. The principal witness so far, Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Manhattan project during the war, who testified last Friday, apparently gave the committee something to think about.

Gen. Groves was close-mouthed when talking to reporters after he gave his testimony, but he let some pertinent remarks slip out which hint at disturbing developments. While he declared that it is impossible to be sure that every one of 600,000 employes is a person with the utmost integrity, he then went on to say that "You just can't have that many people and not expect something to happen. Many people high in the government—well, we've had some people we weren't particularly proud of, put it that way."

The argument that it is impossible to have 600,000 perfect employes is admittedly sound. With the best of screening and investigating, some bad characters were likely to worm their way into the Manhattan project. The country is not worried about the rank and file. Few, if any, of them were in a position to do extensive damage.

The nation is, however, very much worried about people "high in the Government" who were connected with atomic projects and who, as Gen. Groves said, "we weren't particularly proud of." That is putting it guardedly and mildly. Such people could be screened and their loyalty determined. If Gen. Groves gave concrete evidence that high officials were suspects, and there is reason to believe he may have done so, then the House committee has, indeed, as a member put it, "struck pay dirt."

Vacation season having ended, the postman has been relieved of the task of delivering those sleeping-under-blankets-every-night postcards.

A Reality And A Straw Man By World Council of Churches

The original report of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, condemning capitalism and Communism as equivalent evils, has been toned down by the drafting committee. In the interests of world understanding and common sense, it should have been. The report urged the Christian churches to "reject the ideologies of both Communism and capitalism"—as though these two were equivalent in theory and equally menacing to the good life. In effect, it set up as twin targets a dangerous reality and a straw man.

Communism is, of course, an ideology. There are variations in the way its politico-economic theory is carried out in various countries, and changes from time to time in its application to Soviet Russia. But the Marxian doctrine is standard. Russia always reverts to it after "adjustments," and it remains the fixed goal of the satellite states.

But where today can you find a purely capitalistic state, or one which even aspires to capitalism in the Nineteenth Century sense? Certainly nowhere on the Continent of Europe. Certainly not in Socialistic-Labor Britain. Certainly not in Latin America or Antipodes. No doubt the authors of the report intended to condemn capitalism in the United States, along with Communism in Soviet Russia. But the American system of free enterprise has been subjected to so many state controls and so many voluntary changes that Adam Smith or John Stuart Mill would scarcely recognize it.

The net effect of the Amsterdam report was misleading. It could serve no purpose other than to encourage rather loose propaganda by the Socialist leaders of Britain and the remaining "Popular Fronters" on the Continent—which is scarcely a proper function for the World Council of Churches.

The change made in the drafting committee makes the report condemn "the ideology of Communism and laissez-faire (let-it-alone) capitalism." That's an improvement over the original, but it still leaves the interested public wondering just where this laissez-faire capitalism is to be found.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Breathing Difficulties In Polio

The iron lung has proved a godsend to polio victims who are unable to breath properly. Furthermore, the knowledge that such a device is available must be a comfort to one who is stricken with this disease. After all, there is nothing more alarming than the fear of suffocation.

Dr. Van Dellen

There are various ways in which the breathing apparatus is affected by polio. If the diaphragm is paralyzed it is impossible to bring air into the lungs but on attempting to inhale the structure rises into the thorax instead of sinking downward toward the abdomen. When this is associated with weakness of the muscles located between the ribs, breathing is impossible and the diaphragm hardly moves at all. In such cases, the respirator is life-saving and cannot be discontinued until the muscles regain strength.

It is obvious that the individual in an iron lung must be given expert attention. Coughing, for example, is difficult and, should a mild infection of the bronchial tubes ensue, the mucus cannot be expelled in this manner. If it accumulates sufficiently to produce an obstruction, air can no longer reach its destination.

Lowering of the head often encourages drainage of the material. If this does not occur, a suction tube is inserted to clear the passageways. It is for this reason that any one with a cold should never come near a person in a respirator. With the sulfonamides and penicillin, infections of this nature are not as threatening as in the past but they are still a potential danger and should be avoided at all costs.

The polio victim also has trouble breathing when the muscles surrounding the pharynx or vocal cords become paralyzed. He cannot swallow and the saliva or mucus accumulates in the base of the throat. If these secretions are not removed, they pass into the lungs, and the patient literally drowns. A paralyzed tongue is equally dangerous and interferes with respiration by falling back into the mouth. In addition, it handicaps the physician in trying to remove the mucus.

When the respiratory center in the brain is involved, breathing is no longer automatic and must be performed as a conscious effort in much the same way as we move our arms and legs. A deep breath can be taken whenever necessary but as a rule, breathing is shallow and irregular. A respirator is required, especially at night during sleep when the conscious effort to continue breathing is dormant.

An electronic substitute for an iron lung was reported recently at the First International Poliomyelitis conference in New York. It was devised by Wittenburger and Sarnoff and works on an entirely different principle. It consists of an electronic stimulator which is attached to the nerve leading to the diaphragm. As soon as the apparatus is turned on, the machine takes over the function of breathing. Every time the nerve is stimulated, the diaphragm contracts, creating an artificial inhalation. Since the device is regulated to go off and on, deep breathing can be stimulated.

IMPAIRED HEARING

B. T. writes: I have loss of hearing due to collapsed eustachian tubes caused by the flu. What does this mean?

Reply

These structures rarely collapse but some physicians use the term to denote an obstruction. Since the diagnosis is not clear, it would be wise to request a consultation with another competent ear, nose, and throat specialist.

•—•—•

DRUG REACTION

J. T. writes: Where is a penicillin rash likely to appear?

Reply

I doubt if it is choosy. The rash is just as likely to develop on the trunk as the arms or legs.

•—•—•

HEAD BLOWS AND INJURY

A. R. writes: Could slapping and striking a child over the face, ears and head cause a permanent defect in these areas?

Reply

Much depends upon the force of the blow. Beating youngsters in this manner may have the same effect on the brain as that experienced by boxers who ultimately become "punch drunk".

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I think I will run for Congress. Not that I have political ambitions, but I always wanted somebody to write a book about me besides me.

"Earl Warren: A Great American Story," is the latest book about a politician. They have already had volumes about President Truman, Henry Wallace and Jim Farley

So if you want to write a best seller, just sit down and knock out two hundred pages on your favorite candidate starting with: "I like Honest Joe Shnook because."

Of course, you have to get inside information and always remember to be careful. They only allow one author to tap a wire at a time.

And all writers of political biographies should live with their candidate to study him. One candidate had a writer with him so much the towels in the bath room said, "His," "Hers," and "Snooper's."

And be sure your hero is in the current limelight." One writer spent ten years on his book, then found out nobody was interested in the secretary of state under Millard Filmore.

PORT OF MISSING MEN

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rep. Thomas's Capabilities At Public Feed Trough Underestimated; Another Thomas Kickback Found; Real-Estate Lobby Suddenly Discovers Constitution

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — On Aug. 4, 7, 10, and 13, this column published various statements reflecting on Congressman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, Chairman of the un-American Activities Committee. It was reported that Representative Thomas had persuded the Army to keep two soldiers away from the battle front and in return had received substantial campaign contributions from their families.

It was also reported that the New Jersey Congressman had put Myra Midkiff on his payroll for four years though she did no work in his office and during which time she kicked back her salary to him personally. It was also reported that the Congressman put a cleaning woman, Arnette Minor, on his payroll for a short time, who also kicked back her salarly to him; and that following this, Miss Grace Wilson, aunt of Mrs. Thomas, was put on the Thomas payroll for $2,500 for two years, until the Congressman pressured officials of Bergen County, N. J., into putting his wife's aunt into a county home.

This column now wishes to apologize to Congressman Thomas.

It is deeply regretted that these reports were unfair to him, in that they omitted some of his operations and failed to report all of his amazing capabilities for brazenly feeding at the public trough.

While other members of the un-American Activities Committee have kept their skirts clean and let no nepotism mar their effectiveness, the chairman of their committee has been just the opposite. Here is more of Thomas's record:

Daughter-In-Law On Payroll

Beginning in 1946, Thomas put his daughter-in-law, Lillian Thomas, on his payroll at $2,900—despite the fact that she lives in Allendale, N. J., and never comes near the office. When Newman Wright of the Passaic HERALD NEWS queried Thomas about his daughter-in-law, he claimed that she "carried a heavy load of work." Other members of the Thomas office staff say that she "does nothing." Lillian is still carried on the payroll, however, though at a reduced salary.

In July, 1947, Thomas added a new name to his payroll, Mrs. Jacqueline Voss Hill. Mrs. Hill did a little work for the Congressman, but not too much, first, because she was about to have a baby, second, because it became apparent that she was not supposed to work. She was on the payroll so she could kick back part of her generous $3,000 salary to the Congressman.

This became evident later. For when Chairman Thomas went on his junket to Panama last winter and was taken ill, he sent a letter, Feb. 2, 1948, to Miss Vera Halyburton, his secretary, which read in part:

"My protracted stay here will necessitate some quick bookkeeping on your part. I assume from Mrs. T's (Mrs. Thomas) letters to you, that you have placed Jackie's funds in Sis's hands."

"Jackie" was Jacqueline Hill, who was then drawing $3,000, despite the fact that she spent almost no time at the office.

Simultaneously, Mrs. Thomas wrote from Panama to Miss Halyburton as follows:

"He (the Congressman) says to take a couple of days off and go to Allendale and get the money from Jackie and give to Sis to pay the household bills. I think the money goes to Jackie the first of the month."

By this time Jackie Hill's salary had been transferred from Congressman Thomas's own payroll to the House Un-American Activities Committee's payroll. She was listed as clerk and typist for the committee and was supposed to help expose un-American Activities. How she could do this while living in Allendale, N. J., is difficult to understand.

However, the Congressman did not hesitate to use part of the salary paid out by the un-American Activities Committee for supposedly bona fide employes, to pay his own personal bills.

That is another chapter in the record of the New Jersey Congressman who poses as one of the greatest examples of good Americanism in our nation.

Note—It is against the law for any government official to require a government employe to kick back a salary.

Lobby "Discovers" Constitution

The real-estate lobby has got itself in such bad public odor that it is now trying to stage a comeback by capitalizing on Constitution Day.

With some of their organizations under indictment, the high-pressure real-estate boys who violated the spirit of the Constitution by lobbying for their own, rather than the public's interests, have now suddenly discovered the Constitution and wrapped it around them.

For some days, the lobby's propaganda machine has been grinding out patriotic speeches and tributes to the Constitution with the same force that it pulled wires against public housing and slum clearance. This is fine—except that the lobbyists quite candidly admit among themselves that their sudden activity is to divert public attention.

The real-estate boys even hired such big names as Adm. Chester Nimitz, former Chief of Naval Operations, and Gen. "Wild Bill" Donoven, wartime chief of the OSS, to make statements and to address real-estate boards on Constitution Day.

The statements are supposed to be released today with the name of the National Association of Real Estate Boards prominently featured. Nimitz made only one reservation. He insisted that his statement be released in full or not at all. However, California's Republican Congressman Richard Nixon went so far as to give the real-estate lobby permission to write a statement for him—with no strings attached.

Speeches fitting the occasion are being delivered before real-estate boards across the country today, with Admiral Nimitz heading the list before the real-estate board in Berkeley, Calif. Nixon will talk in Alhambra, Calif., and General Donovan will speak at Rochester, N. Y. —both under the auspices of real-estate boards.

As a publicity stunt, the real-estate boys also dug up a couple of dead trees from the homes of Washington and Jefferson at Mt. Vernon and Monticello, and made special gavels for the Constitution Day meetings. They also wangled a chunk of the battleship Missouri from Secretary of Defense Forrestal, rolled it into tin strips and fastened a strip to each gavel.

Important as it is to promote Constitution Day, however, the public isn't likely to forget the housing problems and the real-estate lobby's "patriotic" backstage wire-pulling at the last session of Congress.

Truman's Criticism Of Taft Gives Dewey Campaign Issue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President Truman has handed to Governor Dewey on a platter a campaign issue of fundamental importance to the cause of representative government in America.

The issue, briefly, is whether the people, through their elected representatives in Congress, shall rule or whether there shall be one-man government.

Up to now the right of Congress to inquire into and check up on whether the executive branch of the government is faithfully enforcing the law has been a prerogative and a responsibility of the people's representatives. Today Mr. Truman, ignoring all precedents, has served notice that it is not the right of Congress even to raise questions as to whether the laws are being properly enforced.

The controversy is climaxed through the publication by the White House of an extraordinary exchange of letters between the President and the associate general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. Although Congress, by a specific provision in the law known as the Taft-Hartley Act, stipulated that a joint committee of both Houses should observe and study the enforcement of his law, Mr. Truman denounces as interference the action of Senator Taft, chairman of the committee, in making inquiries. He goes further and calls it an attempt to "put the heat" on the Labor Board.

Precedent For Action

Actually, there was precedent for the setting up of the Taft committee. For years the joint committee on internal revenue has surveyed from Capitol Hill the enforcement of the tax laws and has made pertinent inquires. Indeed, staff members of that committee spend a good deal of time right along in the offices of the commissioner of internal revenue.

The purpose, of course, is to keep in touch with the operations of a law so as to determine if and when amendments are necessary. Public hearings alone would be inadequate, as the questions concern day-to-day enforcement problems on which technicians must be employed by Congress to check the work of technicians in the executive branch.

It so happens that Mr. Truman is not in sympathy with the Taft-Hartley Act and has publicly condemned it to the point where it may be questioned whether he himself hasn't been "putting the heat" on his own appointees, whose reappointment depends on him.

Congress, anticipating just such a situation, provided that the general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board should be independent of the Truman-dominated labor board and made the general counsel subject to removal only on causes specifically stated in the law.

Again and again in the past members of Congress, Democrats and Republicans, individually and through committees have written to or called in person on the attorney general and his assistants in the Department of Justice to urge the enforcement of various laws and to point out failures to prosecute. If Mr. Truman means to cut off members of Congress from communicating their views or conferring with the prosecuting officers of the government, he is certainly seeking to make an extraordinary change in the customs and practices of representative government. By his course, he is making it possible for one-man dictatorship to thrive in the White House.

Truman Going Too Far

Already Mr. Truman is refusing to duly constituted congressional committees information on administrative records relating to loyalty provisions of the law. The President is unwittingly encouraging real Communists to defy congressional committees by taking refuge in evasive technicalities, the transparency of which his own Department of Justice should be ready to expose by relentless prosecutions.

Mr. Truman is going too far in his efforts to undermine the constitutional position of Congress. It is, after all, a coordinate branch of the government and as much responsible as the executive arm—if not more so—for checking up on the enforcement of the laws.

Congress through its committees has already uncovered abuses in which gangsters have been given paroles by the Department of Justice, and it ill behooves Mr. Truman to be so touchy about the laxity of any labor board employes to use the enforcement machinery of a law which the President himself is lambasting in order to corral labor votes. With respect to a law which he has vetoed, the President should lean over backward not to interfere with the spirit or the letter of enforcement by suppressing any effort by Congress to check up on the efficiency of the work of his appointees.

Washington Housecleaning Needed To Save America

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

In declining to run for re-election as Senator from Texas, W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel, told his constituents:

"One of the main reasons for my not running for re-election is that . . . I believe every elected federal official should be limited to one term of not more than 6 years. I am thoroughly convinced, after careful study at close range, that the main objective of the vast majority of the elected federal officials is to get themselves re-elected, re-elected and re-elected, and that the terrible condition existing in our federal government today is due primarily to the fact that the vast majority of these officials do the things that will help get themselves re-elected, instead of doing the things that are best for the welfare of our nation.

Need For Housecleaning

"Another reason why I do not desire to remain in the Senate for another term is because I can see slight hope of saving our nation from going entirely socialistic or communistic. There are less than a dozen men in the United States Senate who consistently vote to maintain the American form of government willed to us by our forefathers. This was the form of government we had until 1932. The only way, as I see it, to prevent our government going the way of all great nations of the past is for the people to conduct a thorough housecleaning in Washington.

". . . The people must awaken to the necessity of sending a different type of men and women to Washington to serve them, and then not let them stay there long enough to become contaminated. As a private citizen I shall be glad to work with other private citizens to bring about an improvement in the type of people to be elected to federal positions."

Senator O'Daniel introduced a bill to amend the Federal Constitution to limit the service of any Senator or Congressman to six years. It got nowhere, although the principle of non-eligibility for re-election is recognized in the constitutions of many of our 48 states.

One may doubt the wisdom or need of amending the Constitution to limit the terms of Congressmen or Senators. As it is, every election brings an infusion of new blood into the Congress. Senators and Congressmen have so few jobs to hand out that they seldom can build up unbreakable machines to perpetuate themselves in office.

Presidency Case Different

With respect to the Presidency, the case is different. The pending 22nd Amendment, if adopted, as now seems likely, will prevent anyone being elected to the office of President more than twice.

A better alternative to limiting the tenure of Congressmen and Senators is to demobilize Big Government. The only thing that will take the fat off Big Government is to starve it. Cut off the rivers of taxes flowing to Washington. Keep tax revenues back home in the states, cities and towns. Better a few rotten boroughs than a rotting Republic. The way Hitler destroyed the German States was to concentrate the control of public money in Berlin.

The growth of Big Government now requires Congressmen and Senators to be in Washington nearly all the time. Until recent years, the "short term" only lasted three months. The other nine months, the Congressman was back home. Even the "long term" generally adjourned in six months. Congressmen are unhappy about these practically year-round absences from home. They know Washington, D. C., is the worst place in America to judge the pulse beat of democracy. Far-off government is a bad thing. It tends to become vague, remote and arrogant. It should be close to the people, easily understood, and subject to their control.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Courts

ONCE a year, I write a piece about the Courts and the reason is that at least once every year, my sense of right is outraged by the crooked deals that politicians make to place upon the Bench mediocre lawyers and secondary politicians. Last year I wrote to say that as principally judges ran in an off-year where I vote and as I could not conscientiously vote for any of the political boss's deals, I did not vote at all.

That position was severely criticised, most of those who wrote me taking the position that as a citizen, I should have exercised my right of the ballot. I finally reached the conclusion that I should have voted. I should have gone to the polls and written in the name of Joe Doakes and Bill Zilch. Or maybe I should just have gone to the polls and voted for nobody.

This year, I have written a piece complaining that the most important Surrogate's Court in New York has been cheapened by open, frank, above-board bargaining, the job being offered for sale much as herring is in a cheap market. The Tammany leader offered to make O. John Rogge a Supreme Court judge if he would retire as a candidate for Surrogate on the American Labor Party, and the Republicans were told that they could have the Supreme Court nominations for both the Republican Party, and Democratic Party if they would withdraw George Frankenthaler as their candidate for Surrogate.

Vito Marcantonio for the American Labor Party and Tom Curran for the Republican Party declined to bargain. Also George Frankenthaler and O. John Rogge refused to withdraw.

So I wrote a piece and got complaints which are extraordinarily interesting. The first argument against me is that the bosses of both political parties usually meet and produce a Bi-Partisan or non-Partisan judicial slate satisfactory to the Bar Association.

I am even told that sometimes candidates for judicial office made appreciable "contributions" to campaign funds in advance of nomination. And I am told that because it has always been done that way, I should not make a fuss as I might hurt the feelings of fine men.

Well, let their feelings be hurt. It is difficult for me to understand how a decent man can permit himself to be the subject of such a trade. They tell me that no other way is practical, which is what the young lady said who preferred the easiest way. Neither logic nor morals justify the argument that one must do anything. I suppose Al Capone and "Legs" Diamond and similar artists could rationalize their services to mankind. The doctrine of "practicality" cannot serve as a justification for an unmistakable vice.

Another argument adduced against me is that the kind of lawyer I would like to see on the Bench will not serve. I do not believe that. Nor do I believe the corollary of that argument which is that none of the judges of this country are high-minded, competent, decent lawyers who prefer public service to private gain. It is not true. It cannot be true. Many men dislike the type of political campaigning to which they must expose themselves, but that does not mean that even those who dislike being abused and smeared do not run for public office. I could list dozens of worthy men on the Bench who did not buy their jobs and who did not join in bargains.

The Courts are our most valued treasure. Upon them, much more than upon Congress and the President, do our liberties depend. One might even say that life, property and the pursuit of happiness lie in the hands of our judiciary and if we get dumbells on the bench, who hire law clerks to write their decisions or who go to the district club, where they originated, for wisdom, the entire community is in peril.

It is essential therefore that we guard the Courts with unusual and extraordinary vigilance. We might vote for a passable President; we ought to vote against a passable judge. The Courts require the best the nation can provide.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Without Trouble

There is little interest in a cloudless sunset. A friend has sent to me an expression by an old lady over eighty years of age, in Paducah, Kentucky. Her minister called upon her, after a long month of suffering, but this is what she said: "I have often asked the Lord for enough clouds during my life to make a beautiful sunset!"

Without trouble and tribulation there would be little background for all the joys that heal, and all the beauty that gives color to the varied experiences of life. Through suffering we are made humble and appreciative for all the manifold blessings that are so lavishly strewn about our pathway.

I welcome the rainy days, for they make the sunny ones so pronounced and appreciated. Vacationists will bear me out on this. If every day were like a joy-ride through life, there would be few heroes, and an overabundance of weaklings and drones.

Trouble is often a blessing in disguise. Without it we would lose contact with faith and be a stranger to courage. We think, we become creative, we sacrifice, and we pray, when trouble comes our way. And when it passes, as it always does, we are freer and braver for having experienced it. The important thing is not to let trouble get us down—for then it often tramples upon us, leaving us bruised and revengeful.

As that dear and devout old lady said, it takes a great group of varied clouds to make the magnificent sunset. All this summer I would watch for the coming clouds, as the day receded, for then I knew that there would be color and matchless beauty to the sunset designed and painted by the greatest Artist of all.

Trouble should never make complainers out of us. That would be to crown trouble and give it the highway! Trouble is one of the ingredients of a strong character, the same as alloy is in holding together pure gold. Never dodge trouble. Meet it face to face. Conquer it—and its defeat will be behind you.

Maine's Election Results Impressive

Maine, the only state to elect its state officials and members of Congress earlier than November, has just weighed in with what the Associated Press dispatch calls "a Republican grand slam."

The old adage, "As Maine goes, so goes the Nation," has been disproved a number of times since 1884, inspiring Jim Farley's famous quip in 1936, "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont." But the size of the G. O. P. majority in Maine in September remains a reliable barometer of the national results in November.

Representative Margaret Chase Smith, first Republican woman to be elected to the United States Senate and the first of her sex to be elected without having first served by appointment, has scored a nearly three-to-one victory over her Democratic opponent. Mrs. Smith's majority of more than 92,000 betters the 20-year record of 82,000 set in 1928. The gubernatorial victory for the G. O. P. was approximately two-to-one, and the congressional results about the same.

Mrs. Smith is regarded as something of a Republican "maverick." In 1947 she favored extension of social security and opposed reduction of the Truman budget. On the other hand, she campaigned by attacking the Truman Administration for its blunders in dealing with Soviet Russia, and blamed current high prices on Administration policies. Mr. Truman has been desperately trying to fix the blame for high prices on the Republican Party. Maine is emphatically not convinced.

The old axiom about Maine should be made to read, "If Maine goes Republican by more than 65 per cent, the Democrats lose the Nation." Maine has gone Republican this time by considerably more than 65 per cen.t If statistical evidence means anything, it will be a landslide for Dewey and Warren in November.

The claim that the meek will inherit the earth has been amended. Science says only anemics will survive atomic rays.

House Committee May Have "Struck Pay Dirt"

The hearings before the House un-American Activities Committee haven't produced any fireworks during the past week. But from behind the closed doors of the committee have come enough sparks to indicate that an explosion may be in the making.

After weeks devoted to investigating Communism in other government departments, the committee has turned its attention to Red penetration of atomic energy research. The principal witness so far, Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, head of the Manhattan project during the war, who testified last Friday, apparently gave the committee something to think about.

Gen. Groves was close-mouthed when talking to reporters after he gave his testimony, but he let some pertinent remarks slip out which hint at disturbing developments. While he declared that it is impossible to be sure that every one of 600,000 employes is a person with the utmost integrity, he then went on to say that "You just can't have that many people and not expect something to happen. Many people high in the government—well, we've had some people we weren't particularly proud of, put it that way."

The argument that it is impossible to have 600,000 perfect employes is admittedly sound. With the best of screening and investigating, some bad characters were likely to worm their way into the Manhattan project. The country is not worried about the rank and file. Few, if any, of them were in a position to do extensive damage.

The nation is, however, very much worried about people "high in the Government" who were connected with atomic projects and who, as Gen. Groves said, "we weren't particularly proud of." That is putting it guardedly and mildly. Such people could be screened and their loyalty determined. If Gen. Groves gave concrete evidence that high officials were suspects, and there is reason to believe he may have done so, then the House committee has, indeed, as a member put it, "struck pay dirt."

Vacation season having ended, the postman has been relieved of the task of delivering those sleeping-under-blankets-every-night postcards.

A Reality And A Straw Man By World Council of Churches

The original report of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, condemning capitalism and Communism as equivalent evils, has been toned down by the drafting committee. In the interests of world understanding and common sense, it should have been. The report urged the Christian churches to "reject the ideologies of both Communism and capitalism"—as though these two were equivalent in theory and equally menacing to the good life. In effect, it set up as twin targets a dangerous reality and a straw man.

Communism is, of course, an ideology. There are variations in the way its politico-economic theory is carried out in various countries, and changes from time to time in its application to Soviet Russia. But the Marxian doctrine is standard. Russia always reverts to it after "adjustments," and it remains the fixed goal of the satellite states.

But where today can you find a purely capitalistic state, or one which even aspires to capitalism in the Nineteenth Century sense? Certainly nowhere on the Continent of Europe. Certainly not in Socialistic-Labor Britain. Certainly not in Latin America or Antipodes. No doubt the authors of the report intended to condemn capitalism in the United States, along with Communism in Soviet Russia. But the American system of free enterprise has been subjected to so many state controls and so many voluntary changes that Adam Smith or John Stuart Mill would scarcely recognize it.

The net effect of the Amsterdam report was misleading. It could serve no purpose other than to encourage rather loose propaganda by the Socialist leaders of Britain and the remaining "Popular Fronters" on the Continent—which is scarcely a proper function for the World Council of Churches.

The change made in the drafting committee makes the report condemn "the ideology of Communism and laissez-faire (let-it-alone) capitalism." That's an improvement over the original, but it still leaves the interested public wondering just where this laissez-faire capitalism is to be found.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. Van Dellen

The iron lung has proved a godsend to polio victims who are unable to breath properly. Furthermore, the knowledge that such a device is available must be a comfort to one who is stricken with this disease. After all, there is nothing more alarming than the fear of suffocation.

There are various ways in which the breathing apparatus is affected by polio. If the diaphragm is paralyzed it is impossible to bring air into the lungs but on attempting to inhale the structure rises into the thorax instead of sinking downward toward the abdomen. When this is associated with weakness of the muscles located between the ribs, breathing is impossible and the diaphragm hardly moves at all. In such cases, the respirator is lifesaving and cannot be discontinued until the muscles regain strength.

It is obvious that the individual in an iron lung must be given expert attention. Coughing, for example, is difficult and, should a mild infection of the bronchial tubes ensue, the mucus cannot be expelled in this manner. If it accumulates sufficiently to produce an obstruction, air can no longer reach its destination.

Lowering of the head often encourages drainage of the material. If this does not occur, a suction tube is inserted to clear the passageways. It is for this reason that any one with a cold should never come near a person in a respirator. With the sulfonamides and penicillin, infections of this nature are not as threatening as in the past but they are still a potential danger and should be avoided at all costs.

The polio victim also has trouble breathing when the muscles surrounding the pharynx or vocal cords become paralyzed. He cannot swallow and the saliva or mucus accumulates in the base of the throat. If these secretions are not removed, they pass into the lungs, and the patient literally drowns. A paralyzed tongue is equally dangerous and interferes with respiration by falling back into the mouth. In addition, it handicaps the physician in trying to remove the mucus.

When the respiratory center in the brain is involved, breathing is no longer automatic and must be performed as a conscious effort in much the same way as we move our arms and legs. A deep breath can be taken whenever necessary but as a rule, breathing is shallow and irregular. A respirator is required, especially at night during sleep when the conscious effort to continue breathing is dormant.

An electronic substitute for an iron lung was reported recently at the First International Poliomyelitis conference in New York. It was devised by Wittenburger and Sarnoff and works on an entirely different principle. It consists of an electronic stimulator which is attached to the nerve leading to the diaphragm. As soon as the apparatus is turned on, the machine takes over the function of breathing. Every time the nerve is stimulated, the diaphragm contracts, creating an artificial inhalation. Since the device is regulated to go off and on, deep breathing can be stimulated.

IMPAIRED HEARING

B. T. writes: I have loss of hearing due to collapsed eustachian tubes caused by the flu. What does this mean?

Reply

These structures rarely collapse but some physicians use the term to denote an obstruction. Since the diagnosis is not clear, it would be wise to request a consultation with another competent ear, nose, and throat specialist.

DRUG REACTION

J. T. writes: Where is a penicillin rash likely to appear?

Reply

I doubt if it is choosy. The rash is just as likely to develop on the trunk as the arms or legs.

HEAD BLOWS AND INJURY

A. R. writes: Could slapping and striking a child over the face, ears and head cause a permanent defect in these areas?

Reply

Much depends upon the force of the blow. Beating youngsters in this manner may have the same effect on the brain as that experienced by boxers who ultimately become "punch drunk".

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I think I will run for Congress. Not that I have political ambitions, but I always wanted somebody to write a book about me besides me.

"Earl Warren: A Great American Story," is the latest book about a politician. They have already had volumes about President Truman, Henry Wallace and Jim Farley

So if you want to write a best seller, just sit down and knock out two hundred pages on your favorite candidate starting with: "I like Honest Joe Shnook because."

Of course, you have to get inside information and always remember to be careful. They only allow one author to tap a wire at a time.

And all writers of political biographies should live with their candidate to study him. One candidate had a writer with him so much the towels in the bath room said, "His," "Hers," and "Snooper's."

And be sure your hero is in the current limelight." One writer spent ten years on his book, then found out nobody was interested in the secretary of state under Millard Filmore.

PORT OF MISSING MEN

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rep. Thomas's Capabilities At Public Feed Trough Underestimated; Another Thomas Kickback Found; Real-Estate Lobby Suddenly Discovers Constitution

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — On Aug. 4, 7, 10, and 13, this column published various statements reflecting on Congressman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, Chairman of the un-American Activities Committee. It was reported that Representative Thomas had persuded the Army to keep two soldiers away from the battle front and in return had received substantial campaign contributions from their families.

It was also reported that the New Jersey Congressman had put Myra Midkiff on his payroll for four years though she did no work in his office and during which time she kicked back her salary to him personally. It was also reported that the Congressman put a cleaning woman, Arnette Minor, on his payroll for a short time, who also kicked back her salarly to him; and that following this, Miss Grace Wilson, aunt of Mrs. Thomas, was put on the Thomas payroll for $2,500 for two years, until the Congressman pressured officials of Bergen County, N. J., into putting his wife's aunt into a county home.

This column now wishes to apologize to Congressman Thomas.

It is deeply regretted that these reports were unfair to him, in that they omitted some of his operations and failed to report all of his amazing capabilities for brazenly feeding at the public trough.

While other members of the un-American Activities Committee have kept their skirts clean and let no nepotism mar their effectiveness, the chairman of their committee has been just the opposite. Here is more of Thomas's record:

Daughter-In-Law On Payroll

Beginning in 1946, Thomas put his daughter-in-law, Lillian Thomas, on his payroll at $2,900—despite the fact that she lives in Allendale, N. J., and never comes near the office. When Newman Wright of the Passaic HERALD NEWS queried Thomas about his daughter-in-law, he claimed that she "carried a heavy load of work." Other members of the Thomas office staff say that she "does nothing." Lillian is still carried on the payroll, however, though at a reduced salary.

In July, 1947, Thomas added a new name to his payroll, Mrs. Jacqueline Voss Hill. Mrs. Hill did a little work for the Congressman, but not too much, first, because she was about to have a baby, second, because it became apparent that she was not supposed to work. She was on the payroll so she could kick back part of her generous $3,000 salary to the Congressman.

This became evident later. For when Chairman Thomas went on his junket to Panama last winter and was taken ill, he sent a letter, Feb. 2, 1948, to Miss Vera Halyburton, his secretary, which read in part:

"My protracted stay here will necessitate some quick bookkeeping on your part. I assume from Mrs. T's (Mrs. Thomas) letters to you, that you have placed Jackie's funds in Sis's hands."

"Jackie" was Jacqueline Hill, who was then drawing $3,000, despite the fact that she spent almost no time at the office.

Simultaneously, Mrs. Thomas wrote from Panama to Miss Halyburton as follows:

"He (the Congressman) says to take a couple of days off and go to Allendale and get the money from Jackie and give to Sis to pay the household bills. I think the money goes to Jackie the first of the month."

By this time Jackie Hill's salary had been transferred from Congressman Thomas's own payroll to the House Un-American Activities Committee's payroll. She was listed as clerk and typist for the committee and was supposed to help expose un-American Activities. How she could do this while living in Allendale, N. J., is difficult to understand.

However, the Congressman did not hesitate to use part of the salary paid out by the un-American Activities Committee for supposedly bona fide employes, to pay his own personal bills.

That is another chapter in the record of the New Jersey Congressman who poses as one of the greatest examples of good Americanism in our nation.

Note—It is against the law for any government official to require a government employe to kick back a salary.

Lobby "Discovers" Constitution

The real-estate lobby has got itself in such bad public odor that it is now trying to stage a comeback by capitalizing on Constitution Day.

With some of their organizations under indictment, the high-pressure real-estate boys who violated the spirit of the Constitution by lobbying for their own, rather than the public's interests, have now suddenly discovered the Constitution and wrapped it around them.

For some days, the lobby's propaganda machine has been grinding out patriotic speeches and tributes to the Constitution with the same force that it pulled wires against public housing and slum clearance. This is fine—except that the lobbyists quite candidly admit among themselves that their sudden activity is to divert public attention.

The real-estate boys even hired such big names as Adm. Chester Nimitz, former Chief of Naval Operations, and Gen. "Wild Bill" Donoven, wartime chief of the OSS, to make statements and to address real-estate boards on Constitution Day.

The statements are supposed to be released today with the name of the National Association of Real Estate Boards prominently featured. Nimitz made only one reservation. He insisted that his statement be released in full or not at all. However, California's Republican Congressman Richard Nixon went so far as to give the real-estate lobby permission to write a statement for him—with no strings attached.

Speeches fitting the occasion are being delivered before real-estate boards across the country today, with Admiral Nimitz heading the list before the real-estate board in Berkeley, Calif. Nixon will talk in Alhambra, Calif., and General Donovan will speak at Rochester, N. Y. —both under the auspices of real-estate boards.

As a publicity stunt, the real-estate boys also dug up a couple of dead trees from the homes of Washington and Jefferson at Mt. Vernon and Monticello, and made special gavels for the Constitution Day meetings. They also wangled a chunk of the battleship Missouri from Secretary of Defense Forrestal, rolled it into tin strips and fastened a strip to each gavel.

Important as it is to promote Constitution Day, however, the public isn't likely to forget the housing problems and the real-estate lobby's "patriotic" backstage wirepulling at the last session of Congress.

Truman's Criticism Of Taft Gives Dewey Campaign Issue

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President Truman has handed to Governor Dewey on a platter a campaign issue of fundamental importance to the cause of representative government in America.

The issue, briefly, is whether the people, through their elected representatives in Congress, shall rule or whether there shall be one-man government.

Up to now the right of Congress to inquire into and check up on whether the executive branch of the government is faithfully enforcing the law has been a prerogative and a responsibility of the people's representatives. Today Mr. Truman, ignoring all precedents, has served notice that it is not the right of Congress even to raise questions as to whether the laws are being properly enforced.

The controversy is climaxed through the publication by the White House of an extraordinary exchange of letters between the President and the associate general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. Although Congress, by a specific provision in the law known as the Taft-Hartley Act, stipulated that a joint committee of both Houses should observe and study the enforcement of his law, Mr. Truman denounces as interference the action of Senator Taft, chairman of the committee, in making inquiries. He goes further and calls it an attempt to "put the heat" on the Labor Board.

Precedent For Action

Actually, there was precedent for the setting up of the Taft committee. For years the joint committee on internal revenue has surveyed from Capitol Hill the enforcement of the tax laws and has made pertinent inquires. Indeed, staff members of that committee spend a good deal of time right along in the offices of the commissioner of internal revenue.

The purpose, of course, is to keep in touch with the operations of a law so as to determine if and when amendments are necessary. Public hearings alone would be inadequate, as the questions concern day-to-day enforcement problems on which technicians must be employed by Congress to check the work of technicians in the executive branch.

It so happens that Mr. Truman is not in sympathy with the Taft-Hartley Act and has publicly condemned it to the point where it may be questioned whether he himself hasn't been "putting the heat" on his own appointees, whose reappointment depends on him.

Congress, anticipating just such a situation, provided that the general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board should be independent of the Truman-dominated labor board and made the general counsel subject to removal only on causes specifically stated in the law.

Again and again in the past members of Congress, Democrats and Republicans, individually and through committees have written to or called in person on the attorney general and his assistants in the Department of Justice to urge the enforcement of various laws and to point out failures to prosecute. If Mr. Truman means to cut off members of Congress from communicating their views or conferring with the prosecuting officers of the government, he is certainly seeking to make an extraordinary change in the customs and practices of representative government. By his course, he is making it possible for one-man dictatorship to thrive in the White House.

Truman Going Too Far

Already Mr. Truman is refusing to duly constituted congressional committees information on administrative records relating to loyalty provisions of the law. The President is unwittingly encouraging real Communists to defy congressional committees by taking refuge in evasive technicalities, the transparency of which his own Department of Justice should be ready to expose by relentless prosecutions.

Mr. Truman is going too far in his efforts to undermine the constitutional position of Congress. It is, after all, a coordinate branch of the government and as much responsible as the executive arm—if not more so—for checking up on the enforcement of the laws.

Congress through its committees has already uncovered abuses in which gangsters have been given paroles by the Department of Justice, and it ill behooves Mr. Truman to be so touchy about the laxity of any labor board employes to use the enforcement machinery of a law which the President himself is lambasting in order to corral labor votes. With respect to a law which he has vetoed, the President should lean over backward not to interfere with the spirit or the letter of enforcement by suppressing any effort by Congress to check up on the efficiency of the work of his appointees.

Washington Housecleaning Needed To Save America

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

In declining to run for re-election as Senator from Texas, W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel, told his constituents:

"One of the main reasons for my not running for re-election is that . . . I believe every elected federal official should be limited to one term of not more than 6 years. I am thoroughly convinced, after careful study at close range, that the main objective of the vast majority of the elected federal officials is to get themselves re-elected, re-elected and re-elected, and that the terrible condition existing in our federal government today is due primarily to the fact that the vast majority of these officials do the things that will help get themselves re-elected, instead of doing the things that are best for the welfare of our nation.

Need For Housecleaning

"Another reason why I do not desire to remain in the Senate for another term is because I can see slight hope of saving our nation from going entirely socialistic or communistic. There are less than a dozen men in the United States Senate who consistently vote to maintain the American form of government willed to us by our forefathers. This was the form of government we had until 1932. The only way, as I see it, to prevent our government going the way of all great nations of the past is for the people to conduct a thorough housecleaning in Washington.

". . . The people must awaken to the necessity of sending a different type of men and women to Washington to serve them, and then not let them stay there long enough to become contaminated. As a private citizen I shall be glad to work with other private citizens to bring about an improvement in the type of people to be elected to federal positions."

Senator O'Daniel introduced a bill to amend the Federal Constitution to limit the service of any Senator or Congressman to six years. It got nowhere, although the principle of non-eligibility for re-election is recognized in the constitutions of many of our 48 states.

One may doubt the wisdom or need of amending the Constitution to limit the terms of Congressmen or Senators. As it is, every election brings an infusion of new blood into the Congress. Senators and Congressmen have so few jobs to hand out that they seldom can build up unbreakable machines to perpetuate themselves in office.

Presidency Case Different

With respect to the Presidency, the case is different. The pending 22nd Amendment, if adopted, as now seems likely, will prevent anyone being elected to the office of President more than twice.

A better alternative to limiting the tenure of Congressmen and Senators is to demobilize Big Government. The only thing that will take the fat off Big Government is to starve it. Cut off the rivers of taxes flowing to Washington. Keep tax revenues back home in the states, cities and towns. Better a few rotten boroughs than a rotting Republic. The way Hitler destroyed the German States was to concentrate the control of public money in Berlin.

The growth of Big Government now requires Congressmen and Senators to be in Washington nearly all the time. Until recent years, the "short term" only lasted three months. The other nine months, the Congressman was back home. Even the "long term" generally adjourned in six months. Congressmen are unhappy about these practically year-round absences from home. They know Washington, D. C., is the worst place in America to judge the pulse beat of democracy. Far-off government is a bad thing. It tends to become vague, remote and arrogant. It should be close to the people, easily understood, and subject to their control.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Courts

ONCE a year, I write a piece about the Courts and the reason is that at least once every year, my sense of right is outraged by the crooked deals that politicians make to place upon the Bench mediocre lawyers and secondary politicians. Last year I wrote to say that as principally judges ran in an off-year where I vote and as I could not conscientiously vote for any of the political boss's deals, I did not vote at all.

That position was severely criticised, most of those who wrote me taking the position that as a citizen, I should have exercised my right of the ballot. I finally reached the conclusion that I should have voted. I should have gone to the polls and written in the name of Joe Doakes and Bill Zilch. Or maybe I should just have gone to the polls and voted for nobody.

This year, I have written a piece complaining that the most important Surrogate's Court in New York has been cheapened by open, frank, above-board bargaining, the job being offered for sale much as herring is in a cheap market. The Tammany leader offered to make O. John Rogge a Supreme Court judge if he would retire as a candidate for Surrogate on the American Labor Party, and the Republicans were told that they could have the Supreme Court nominations for both the Republican Party, and Democratic Party if they would withdraw George Frankenthaler as their candidate for Surrogate.

Vito Marcantonio for the American Labor Party and Tom Curran for the Republican Party declined to bargain. Also George Frankenthaler and O. John Rogge refused to withdraw.

So I wrote a piece and got complaints which are extraordinarily interesting. The first argument against me is that the bosses of both political parties usually meet and produce a Bi-Partisan or non-Partisan judicial slate satisfactory to the Bar Association.

I am even told that sometimes candidates for judicial office made appreciable "contributions" to campaign funds in advance of nomination. And I am told that because it has always been done that way, I should not make a fuss as I might hurt the feelings of fine men.

Well, let their feelings be hurt. It is difficult for me to understand how a decent man can permit himself to be the subject of such a trade. They tell me that no other way is practical, which is what the young lady said who preferred the easiest way. Neither logic nor morals justify the argument that one must do anything. I suppose Al Capone and "Legs" Diamond and similar artists could rationalize their services to mankind. The doctrine of "practicality" cannot serve as a justification for an unmistakable vice.

Another argument adduced against me is that the kind of lawyer I would like to see on the Bench will not serve. I do not believe that. Nor do I believe the corollary of that argument which is that none of the judges of this country are high-minded, competent, decent lawyers who prefer public service to private gain. It is not true. It cannot be true. Many men dislike the type of political campaigning to which they must expose themselves, but that does not mean that even those who dislike being abused and smeared do not run for public office. I could list dozens of worthy men on the Bench who did not buy their jobs and who did not join in bargains.

The Courts are our most valued treasure. Upon them, much more than upon Congress and the President, do our liberties depend. One might even say that life, property and the pursuit of happiness lie in the hands of our judiciary and if we get dumbbells on the bench, who hire law clerks to write their decisions or who go to the district club, where they originated, for wisdom, the entire community is in peril.

It is essential therefore that we guard the Courts with unusual and extraordinary vigilance. We might vote for a passable President; we ought to vote against a passable judge. The Courts require the best the nation can provide.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Without Trouble

There is little interest in a cloudless sunset. A friend has sent to me an expression by an old lady over eighty years of age, in Paducah, Kentucky. Her minister called upon her, after a long month of suffering, but this is what she said: "I have often asked the Lord for enough clouds during my life to make a beautiful sunset!"

Without trouble and tribulation there would be little background for all the joys that heal, and all the beauty that gives color to the varied experiences of life. Through suffering we are made humble and appreciative for all the manifold blessings that are so lavishly strewn about our pathway.

I welcome the rainy days, for they make the sunny ones so pronounced and appreciated. Vacationists will bear me out on this. If every day were like a joy-ride through life, there would be few heroes, and an overabundance of weaklings and drones.

Trouble is often a blessing in disguise. Without it we would lose contact with faith and be a stranger to courage. We think, we become creative, we sacrifice, and we pray, when trouble comes our way. And when it passes, as it always does, we are freer and braver for having experienced it. The important thing is not to let trouble get us down—for then it often tramples upon us, leaving us bruised and revengeful.

As that dear and devout old lady said, it takes a great group of varied clouds to make the magnificent sunset. All this summer I would watch for the coming clouds, as the day receded, for then I knew that there would be color and matchless beauty to the sunset designed and painted by the greatest Artist of all.

Trouble should never make complainers out of us. That would be to crown trouble and give it the highway! Trouble is one of the ingredients of a strong character, the same as alloy is in holding together pure gold. Never dodge trouble. Meet it face to face. Conquer it—and its defeat will be behind you.

Two Registration Days Announced By Supervisors

Voters in Allegany County will be registered September 28 and October 5 at county polling places, it was announced yesterday by Patrick F. King, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Election workers will be at the 75 polling places in the county from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on both days to register those who have reached the legal voting age of 21 and those persons who have filed a declaration of intention to become citizens of Maryland.

Notice of intention to take out citizenship in Maryland is required at least one year prior to the election on November 2. A check at the Court House today shows that only about 150 persons have filed declarations in recent months.

The Board of Election Supervisors will hold revision day on October 12 at which time the names of persons who have died since the last election will be stricken off the books.

Voters who have moved since the last election can go to their former polling place and ask for a transfer certificate to take to the nearest polling place to their present address. Election officials said that many voters, especially in Cumberland, have never bothered to change their polling place and return to former neighborhood each year to cast their ballots.

Besides the campaign to get voters to register this year by the Democratic and Republican party organizations, several organizations comprised of labor groups are planning drives to get members of their unions to register.

About 40,000 voters are on the county registration books. During the past year more than 4,000 voters were removed from the books for failing to vote during the previous five years. Republicans have a majority of over 5,000 voters on the books.

Persons whose names were removed from the books last year may re-register September 28 and October 5.

SS. Peter And Paul Organ Being Installed

The installation of the rebuilt and enlarged organ now underway at SS. Peter and Paul Church here may be completed in time for the centennial celebration of the parish planned October 17.

The old organ has been repaired by an Illinois organ factory and was enlarged to about three times its former size. The three manual organ will be one of the finest organs in the state of Maryland.

Its completion will mark the last of an extensive remodeling program begun here last year to prepare for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the church established here for the German Catholics of the Cumberland area.

The Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, archbishop of Baltimore, will officiate at a pontifical high mass to be held next month to mark the centennial of the historical church.

Unions To Protest Decertification Move

Officials of Local 322, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Food Clerks Union, AFL, announced yesterday they are sending letters to all organized labor locals in the Cumberland area notifying them of the decertification petition which has been filed with the National Labor Relations Board.

They said they will ask support of all labor groups in maintaining a union in the American Stores of this area.

A petition was filed recently, the union said, which questioned the right of the unions to represent workers of 21 American stores in the Tri-State area. The NLRB has promised an early preliminary hearing in the case, union officials said.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are "sweet-tempered" people subject to depression?

Answer: Yes says Dr. Lawrence F. Woolley in the Journal of the Georgia Medical Association. Pathological depression (formerly called melancholia) is apt to be brought on by shock or misfortune in the case of those "sweet individuals" who cannot accept the fact that they are capable of hostile feelings toward those whom they love or are expected to love. They "dam up" the anger which all human beings feel when disappointed or frustrated, and this ultimately is turned back upon themselves in the form of guilt and despair.

Do "over-sexed" people really hate sex?

Answer: Fairly often, on the principle that any time two sides of a personality are in conflict, the more vigorously one fights, the harder the other fights back. In the case of many men and still more women, where normal sex feeling has been blocked by too strict early training, life becomes a series of "swings" from extreme self-indulgence to no less intense self-loathing and self-condemnation. The freer from morbid shame you are about your natural instincts, the more moderation you will show in finding ways to satisfy them.

Are fainting and "shock" the same thing?

Answer: Yes, maintains Dr. J. Walker Tomb in the New Zealand Medical Journal. Physically, both conditions result from the overstimulation of the sympathetic nervous system, and create in an exaggerated, pathological form the normal symptoms of extreme muscular exertion. When you faint from pain, for instance, it's as if your system had been overwhelmed by its own efforts to ward off a danger against which it is helpless, and the same thing happens in "shock," except that the anesthetic may keep you from being conscious of it.

Two Registration Days Announced By Supervisors

Voters in Allegany County will be registered September 28 and October 5 at county polling places, it was announced yesterday by Patrick F. King, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Election workers will be at the 75 polling places in the county from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on both days to register those who have reached the legal voting age of 21 and those persons who have filed a declaration of intention to become citizens of Maryland.

Notice of intention to take out citizenship in Maryland is required at least one year prior to the election on November 2. A check at the Court House today shows that only about 150 persons have filed declarations in recent months.

The Board of Election Supervisors will hold revision day on October 12 at which time the names of persons who have died since the last election will be stricken off the books.

Voters who have moved since the last election can go to their former polling place and ask for a transfer certificate to take to the nearest polling place to their present address. Election officials said that many voters, especially in Cumberland, have never bothered to change their polling place and return to former neighborhood each year to cast their ballots.

Besides the campaign to get voters to register this year by the Democratic and Republican party organizations, several organizations comprised of labor groups are planning drives to get members of their unions to register.

About 40,000 voters are on the county registration books. During the past year more than 4,000 voters were removed from the books for failing to vote during the previous five years. Republicans have a majority of over 5,000 voters on the books.

Persons whose names were removed from the books last year may re-register September 28 and October 5.

Just Between Us

That Cool, Aloof Boy Could Be Shy, Or Maybe Undecided

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I can't figure this boy out. He tells my friends that he thinks a lot of me, and whenever we're walking or talking together I believe he cares for me. But when we're in a crowd, he does not pay any attention to me at all. And he tells his buddies that I'm just a good friend as far as he's concerned. His stories seem to vary between the fellows and girls and I'd like your advice. How can I tell whether or not he really does like me?"

(A) It could be a case of shyness. Secretly he may rate you way up on top of his list, but he won't admit it for fear of letting his feelings become public, and open to kidding from his pals. Or he might be having trouble making up his mind. You can't do any more than wait and see if he's going to decide one way or the other. Keep on smiling and chatting with him the same as you always have and eventually you'll be able to tell who's been right all along, your friends or his.

(Q) "Dear Nancy" While I was on my vacation, the boy with whom I keep company dated my best friend. Yet, when he sees me talking to another fellow, he starts an argument and I don't see him for a couple of days. He tries to pick my friends, tell me what to do and keeps track of my every move. He believes he's right in doing this because I'm wearing his class ring. Is there any possibility of curing him of his jealousy, or is a breakup the best thing in this case?"

(A) If you want to be ordered around, keep going with him, but if you're an individual and resent dictatorship, tell him that you don't see any point in keeping this up any longer. He hasn't any right to put a ball and chain on you just because you've accepted his ring. You're honor-bound not to date anyone else when you've promised to go steady, but it doesn't include an F.B.I. arrangement, too. Your best bet is to tell him everything's off, and stick to it. You can't cure this type of jealousy. You can only put up with it or do away with the situation that causes it.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I am interested in a girl who's a couple of years younger than I. When I first asked her out, she broke up with the fellow she was dating, and we've gone together for some time. Now, I think she wants to date her ex-friend, and although she hasn't said anything about it, I think I can tell from her attitude. What should I do, forget it and stop seeing her or try to win her back?"

(A) You haven't lost her yet, and it could be your imagination working overtime. Don't call her for a few days, then phone and ask her out. During that time, she'll begin to wonder why she hasn't heard from you, and her doubts about the situation, if there are any, might be resolved. You'll be able to tell how things are going when you see her again. If your ideas are correct, but there's a chance for you to win her back, take it and do your best.

Nancy can help with all your teen-age problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Just Between Us

That Cool, Aloof Boy Could Be Shy, Or Maybe Undecided

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I can't figure this boy out. He tells my friends that he thinks a lot of me, and whenever we're walking or talking together I believe he cares for me. But when we're in a crowd, he does not pay any attention to me at all. And he tells his buddies that I'm just a good friend as far as he's concerned. His stories seem to vary between the fellows and girls and I'd like your advice. How can I tell whether or not he really does like me?"

(A) It could be a case of shyness. Secretly he may rate you way up on top of his list, but he won't admit it for fear of letting his feelings become public, and open to kidding from his pals. Or he might be having trouble making up his mind. You can't do any more than wait and see if he's going to decide one way or the other. Keep on smiling and chatting with him the same as you always have and eventually you'll be able to tell who's been right all along, your friends or his.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: While I was on my vacation, the boy with whom I keep company dated my best friend. Yet, when he sees me talking to another fellow, he starts an argument and I don't see him for a couple of days. He tries to pick my friends, tell me what to do and keeps track of my every move. He believes he's right in doing this because I'm wearing his class ring. Is there any possibility of curing him of his jealousy, or is a breakup the best thing in this case?"

(A) If you want to be ordered around, keep going with him, but if you're an individual and resent dictatorship, tell him that you don't see any point in keeping this up any longer. He hasn't any right to put a ball and chain on you just because you've accepted his ring. You're honor-bound not to date anyone else when you've promised to go steady, but it doesn't include an F.B.I. arrangement, too. Your best bet is to tell him everything's off, and stick to it. You can't cure this type of jealousy. You can only put up with it or do away with the situation that causes it.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I am interested in a girl who's a couple of years younger than I. When I first asked her out, she broke up with the fellow she was dating, and we've gone together for some time. Now, I think she wants to date her ex-friend, and although she hasn't said anything about it, I think I can tell from her attitude. What should I do, forget it and stop seeing her or try to win her back?"

(A) You haven't lost her yet, and it could be your imagination working overtime. Don't call her for a few days, then phone and ask her out. During that time, she'll begin to wonder why she hasn't heard from you, and her doubts about the situation, if there are any, might be resolved. You'll be able to tell how things are going when you see her again. If your ideas are correct, but there's a chance for you to win her back, take it and do your best.

Nancy can help with all your teen-age problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

And With Any Salad-- A Good Dressing

1 cup salad oil, ½ cup vinegar, ⅔ cup condensed tomato soup, ⅓ cup sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Combine all ingredients and beat with a rotary beater until blended. Store in refrigerator in a covered jar. Yield: about 2½ cups.

Dessert With The Meal

One simple way to cut food costs is to make dessert a part of the meal. Try serving hot biscuits with preserves or French toast with jelly. Good enough dessert for anyone!

Simple, Nourishing After-School Snacks

Now that the children are back in school the demand for the four o'clock snack will begin again.

For a snack that's nutritious and easy to fix, bread and jam with a glass of milk lead the field. Bread and milk contain basic food elements. The preserves or jelly assist in supplying quick energy needed at this time of day since fruit sugars are quickly assimilated by the body.

Here are some additional tempting snack combinations:

Crabapple jelly and peanut butter sandwiches with milk.

Cream cheese and apricot preserves blended, made into sandwiches and enjoyed with milk.

Butter and preserves "creamed" together and spread on bread and served with chocolate milk.

To use up that bit of yesterday's plain cake, serve it with a tasty sauce made with preserves or jelly. An old favorite recipe calls for grape jelly, vanilla, lemon juice, a little water, a piece of butter and just enough cornstarch to thicken slightly.

For Hallowe'en night when the children come for "treats" . . . or for a real treat at any time—make half-inch thick old-fashioned ginger cookies with a dab of currant jelly in the center of each.

And With Any Salad-- A Good Dressing

1 cup salad oil, ½ cup vinegar, ⅔ cup condensed tomato soup, ⅓ cup sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Combine all ingredients and beat with a rotary beater until blended. Store in refrigerator in a covered jar. Yield: about 2½ cups.

Dessert With The Meal

One simple way to cut food costs is to make dessert a part of the meal. Try serving hot biscuits with preserves or French toast with jelly. Good enough dessert for anyone!

Simple, Nourishing After-School Snacks

Now that the children are back in school the demand for the four o'clock snack will begin again.

For a snack that's nutritious and easy to fix, bread and jam with a glass of milk lead the field. Bread and milk contain basic food elements. The preserves or jelly assist in supplying quick energy needed at this time of day since fruit sugars are quickly assimilated by the body.

Here are some additional tempting snack combinations:

Crabapple jelly and peanut butter sandwiches with milk.

Cream cheese and apricot preserves blended, made into sandwiches and enjoyed with milk.

Butter and preserves "creamed" together and spread on bread and served with chocolate milk.

To use up that bit of yesterday's plain cake, serve it with a tasty sauce made with preserves or jelly. An old favorite recipe calls for grape jelly, vanilla, lemon juice, a little water, a piece of butter and just enough cornstarch to thicken slightly.

For Hallowe'en night when the children come for "treats" . . . or for a real treat at any time—make half-inch thick old-fashioned ginger cookies with a dab of currant jelly in the center of each.

Following Basic Food Selection

Instead of frowning in dismay at the amount shown on your grocer's cash register slip, plan in advance before buying food these days and you will be able to make your money go farther.

For real food economy, foresight is indeed better than hindsight. It is essential that all three meals for each day be planned in advance. It is also important to make all your purchases for a week or for a number of days at one time so that food not completely used one day may be utilized in the next day's planning.

Here are four basic rules to help cut food costs:

1. Serve foods in season. Right now plan on tomatoes, corn, squash, celery, eggplant, melons and other seasonally plentiful foods.
2. Plan three meals a day in advance for the entire week.
3. Waste not! Use up left-overs. Conserve food by preventing spoilage.
4. Make a list of your needs before going to the store. Base the list on your feal plan and shop strictly according to it.

To make any moderately priced mean plan pleasing to the family, variety and contrast are necessary. It is monotony that defeats most attempts at thrift.

One of the easiest and most economical ways to give zest and variety to "budget-meals" is to use jams and jellies can be used either a wide variety of foods. Meat, cake, cookies, coffee cake, pancakes, cereal, ice cream, bread and biscuits are a few of the foods with which jams and pellies can be used either as ingredients or as a spread or garnish. You'll find the jams, jellies and preserves at your grocery store economical, too, since they are one food item that has actually gone down in price in the past year.

Potatoes feed the family, and they can also help you in your food chores. Use thin slices of raw potato to clarify oils and fats that are very soft at room temperature. Use four or five slices to a cup of fat. Cook slowly over low heat for about 20 minutes. Strain the fat through a clean cloth and cool.

Jelly, Preserves Used For New Cabbage Dishes

This is the season when crisp, firm heads of cabbage come on the market in plentiful supply and at a very reasonable price. To some folks that means plenty of their favorite cabbage salad and others will have a yen for cooked cabbage.

Here are two recipes to give a new and different flavor touch to two old favorites, cabbage salad and red cabbage. The "secret ingredients" are preserves and jelly which are also in plentiful supply at your grocers and reasonable in price.

"Pineapple Slaw" is no work at all to fix. Combine one-third cup of mayonnaise or salad dressing with one-third cup of pineapple preserves. Add a bit of cream to bring it to the desired consistency. Then combine this dressing with three cups of shredded cabbage and your Pineapple Slaw is all ready for eating and enjoying.

Cabbage lovers will find this "Red Cabbage Special" a colorful treat. To make it you'll need:

1 small head red cabbage, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1½ cups thinly sliced apple, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup grape jelly.

Remove wilted leaves from the head of cabbage and shred. Rinse in cold running water. Now combine the shredded cabbage with the onion, apple, water, vinegar, butter or margarine, salt and grape jelly. Cook slowly in a covered pan until tender. Serves four.

When you boil potatoes, keep the the jackets on to help conserve food values.

The best potatoes are firm and smooth. They have shallow eyes, and no cuts, decay, or green spots.

Left-over potatoes are an asset for future meals. Use chopped cooked spuds to make potato hash or hash browned potatoes. Put mashed potatoes into potato cakes or potato puff. Or use mashed potatoes as the crust of meat, fish, or vegetable pie.

Prepare Lunch In Advance For Youthful Hallowe'en Spooks

Are you planning to make your house a haunting place for goblins, ghosts, pirates and other assorted "creatures" this Halloween? If these goblins and ghosts are like most young folks, they're going to be mighty hungry spooks before the evening is over, so be prepared to feed them lest you fall victim to their tricks.

Considering the gay mood they're likely to be in, it doesn't pay to fuss too much with a party lunch, so why not plan some easy entertainment with a waffle party. There's nothing the young folks like better and it's really no trick at all.

Use your regular waffle mix and serve golden brown waffles with a choice of jelly and preserves, syrup and honey. To make dessert waffles, add a bit of extra sweetening to the batter. Then break each waffle in four pieces when baked.

For something really rich enough to satisfy teen-age appetites, serve waffles with an ice cream and jam topping. Just whip one-third cup of cream until stiff and fold in four tablespoons of raspberry jam. Bake the waffles, spoon a generous helping of ice cream onto each and top with the raspberry cream. Here is a real party dessert.

Another Hallowe'en dessert that will tempt even the wildest of spooks is Grape Cream Topping. Make gingerbread with your favorite mix or recipe, pour into a greased oblong or square pan and bake. Cut into squares and serve with Grape Cream topping.

Whip one cup of cream sufficiently so that it holds its shape. Fold six tablespoons of grape jelly into the cream, one spoonful at a time. Blend thoroughly and spoon on top of each square of gingerbread. Now watch the ghosts and goblins quiet down to concentrate on eating.

Chocolate Bread Pudding

1 ounce unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup milk, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 egg yolk. Slightly beaten, ¾ teaspoon vanilla extract, 3 cups soft ½" bread cubes, 1 egg white, ⅛ cup sugar, ½ tablespoon grated chocolate.

Add chocolate to the milk and heat in a double boiler. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine brown sugar, salt and egg yolks; add chocolate mixture gradually, stirring vigorously. Add vanilla extract and bread cubes and allow to stand for ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour mixture into a greased 1 quart casserole. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for thirty minutes, or until almost set. Beat egg whites until foamy; add sugar gradually. Continue beating until meringue will stand in peaks. Place meringue on outer edge of pudding, forming a rim. Sprinkle meringue with shaved chocolate. Return to oven and continue baking for eight minutes, or until brown.

Yeld: 4 servings.

Though you can't see the food values, there are plenty in potatoes—if they're properly cooked and served promptly. Spuds offer vitamin C, some of the B vitamins, iron and other important minerals, and starch.

Stuffed Eggplant Hearty Substitute For Meat Dishes

One of the best ways to reduce the cost of meals is to use a substitute for meat and there's no finer meat substitute than the gorgeous purple eggplant which is once again in season.

Peel it, slice it, dip it in egg and bread crumbs and fry. It's so satisfying that no meat is needed. Eat it just as you would pancakes. Butter each slice and then spread with your favorite flavor of jam or jelly for real eating enjoyment.

For a heartier dish, try stuffed eggplant. It's not at all difficult to prepare. Here's what you'll need:

One eggplant.
2 tablespoons drippings.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup milk.
1 cup grated American cheese.
1¼ cups soft bread crumbs.
1 tablespoon grated onion.
1 tablespoon catsup.
2 egg yolks.
2 beaten egg whites.

Wash the eggplant, cut lengthwise into halves and scrape out the centers, leaving one-half inch shells. Cook the pulp in a small amount of water until tender. Then mash and drain. Next melt the drippings and blend in the flour. Add the milk gradually and cook, stirring until thickened. Now add the mashed eggplant, the grated American cheese, the bread crumbs, onion, catsup and egg yolks. Season, and fold in the beaten egg whites.

Fill eggplant shells with the stuffing and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one and a quarter hours. When finished, place the filled shells on a hot platter surrounded with cooked onions and broiled tomato halves. Garnish with parsley. Here's a vegetable meal so filling that nobody will miss meat at all.

Simple to cook spuds: first scrub them, then drop them into a kettle of boiling water, enough to cover them. Cook covered until tender. Then drain at once so the potatoes won't get waterlogged.

Meat In Reducing

In all reducing diets, meat plays an important part. Meat's protein is of the highest quality and at the same time the caloric content of meat is relatively low. Unless the reducing diet includes sufficient protein, the vital functions of the body, such as tissue repair, blood regeneration, and resistance to infectious disease, will be affected. Lean meat should be the hub of the reducing diet, around which the meals for the day are planned. Lean meats include steaks and chops, roast lamb, veal, and beef from which all fat has been trimmed. Ground beef patties, made from lean beef, also may be included in the reducing diet.

Looking for good buys in the food department? Ask for potatoes—they're plentiful, quality is generally high, and cost low, compared to that of many scarcer foods.

Prepare Lunch In Advance For Youthful Hallowe'en Spooks

Are you planning to make your house a haunting place for goblins, ghosts, pirates and other assorted "creatures" this Halloween? If these goblins and ghosts are like most young folks, they're going to be mighty hungry spooks before the evening is over, so be prepared to feed them lest you fall victim to their tricks.

Considering the gay mood they're likely to be in, it doesn't pay to fuss too much with a party lunch, so why not plan some easy entertainment with a waffle party. There's nothing the young folks like better and it's really no trick at all.

South African Net Sensation Whips Cochell

Eric Sturgess Wins In Five-Set Match

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Any lingering doubt that a very fine new star has appeared in the tennis firmament was removed today when Eric Sturgess, the trim South African, beat Earl Cochell of San Francisco in a brilliant quarter-final match of the national championships.

The Johannesburg greyhound looked like the greatest foreign threat since Fred Perry of more than a decade ago as he turned back the fifth-seeded Frisco redhead—best of this country's young prospects—by scores of 6-2, 8-6, 3-6, 5-7, 6-3.

In caliber of sustained tennis by both players it was without much doubt the finest match played here between amateurs since before the war.

When he knocked out second-seeded Billy Talbert two days ago, net authorities conceded that the 28-year-old from the Dark Continent had something. Tonight they were willing to admit he has everything except a cannonball service.

Flam Whips Likas

The visitor's big victory took some of the polish off an almost equally fine win by 19-year-old Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, who rallied after a weak start to slaughter Harry Likas, the national intercollegiate champion from San Francisco, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-0.

Gertrude (Gussie) Moran of Santa Monica, Calif., closed out today's program by busting the ranks of the seeded women wide open.

Sporting a red ribbon in her hair, Gussie pounded Doris Hart of Miami out of the tournament, 6-4, 6-4, in a grand exhibition of baseline driving. Miss Hart, seeded second only to defending champion Louise Brough, had been expected to breeze through to the finals, and some observers had touted her to take the title.

Miss Moran, who celebrates her 25th birthday this month, was in rare form, and in the tight spots she won the long exchanges with her steady driving.

Plays Mrs. Du Pont

Miss Moran's semi-final opponent tomorrow will be Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington Del., who rallied from a losing first set today to put out young Beverly Baker of Santa Monica, 1-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Two long-time rivals meet in the other bracket—Miss Brough and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of La Jolla, Calif. Miss Brough eliminated Mrs. Virginia Wolfenden Kovacs, of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-2, and Mrs. Todd erased Mrs. Madge Vosters of Secane, Pa., 6-3, 6-1. Neither has yet lost a set.

In the third mens' match played today, Wimbledon champion Bob Falkenberg of Hollywood reached the quarterfinals belatedly by defeating Nick Carter of San Francisco in straight sets, 8-6, 6-3, 6-4. He bumps into Jaroslav Drobny, the sturdy Czech, tomorrow, while Frankie Parker meets Dick Gonzales, husky Davis cup hope from Los Angeles.

Don Black Is Still On The Danger List

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16—(AP)—Pitcher Don Black of the Cleveland Indians appeared "much brighter" today, Charity Hospital reported, but he still is on the danger list.

"I'm rather heartened by Don's condition," said Dr. Spencer Braden, the specialist consulted after Black received a hemorrhage near the brain Monday afternoon in a game with the St. Louis Browns.

"The whole picture looks brighter now. The problem now is to stop recurrence of bleeding, but Don will face a long period of convalescence."

Stone Cutter Evicted With Aid Of Derrick

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16—(AP)—It took a derrick to evict Charles Kronenberger today. His effects included about a hundred tombstones.

Sol Shavell, the 65-year-old stone cutter's landlord, filed the eviction proceedings in Peoples Court for non-payment of rent and the sheriff sent a constable around to execute the court's order.

The constable had to call in two city trucks, one of them equipped with a crane. They moved the tombstones to a city lot until Kronenberger can figure out what to do with them. One of the monuments weighed 2,500 pounds.

Kronenberger meantime went to live with a son at Glen Burnie, Md.

President Truman appointed a fact-finding commission to help avert it. Federal Mediator Thomas R. Steutel refereed the negotiations.

They were carried on under a clause in the existing contract allowing the wage question to be reopened. Weaver said the union obtained another such clause allowing it again to reopen wage discussions after one year, with the right to strike.

Late in the morning Green was told that his passport was in order and that he could return to Bucharest by train, but that the other three members of the legation staff were to be held. Green refused to leave the others in Giurgiu.

At 11:15 a. m. he finally got permission to phone the legation—17 hours after the group was first detained. Fifteen minutes later the four were informed that all were free to go to Bucharest. They promptly did so.

Md. GOP Women Discuss Strategy

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Leading women members of the Republican Party from all sections of the state gathered here today to discuss presidential campaign strategy.

Miss Bertha S. Adkins, Salisbury, the party's national committeewoman from Maryland, presided and Miss Geneva McQuatters, assistant to the director of the national committee, was one of the speakers.

How to raise campaign funds provided the main topic of discussion.

Frederick County women reported they are planning card parties for that purpose. Teas are planned by Montgomery County women.

Harford County women said they will hold a benefit but "we don't know yet just what we'll do."

Another report from Montgomery County said the entire Republican organization there—men and women—is sending out letters asking for contributions.

Baltimore County representatives said they are so interested "in getting out the registration" that other things have been placed in the background for the time being.

Discussing campaign strategy, Mrs. Frances J. Kline, Hagerstown, president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, said that feminine campaigners should "sell the Republican platform, particularly the planks on foreign policy and equal rights."

She advised them to keep out of discussions of the Taft-Hartley law. "Let the men take care of it," she said. "I think they can explain it better."

Mrs. Patterson Of Sound Mind, Executors Claim

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Executors named in the will of Publisher Eleanor Patterson of the Washington Times-Herald formally denied today that she was of unsound mind when she left the newspaper to seven employes.

Mrs. Patterson's daughter, Countess Felicia Gizycka, is contesting the will. Her lawyers asked today that a court collector be named for the estate of Charles B. Porter, former official of the newspaper, who plunged to his death Tuesday from a hotel in Clerksburg W. Va.

The countess' lawyer said there was reason to believe Porter, at the time of his death, "was possessed of highly-important written evidence" concerned with the issues she has raised in the will case.

Symbol of Quality...
This label is your guide to quality—to selecting the brand you want.
BACK LABEL
Proof of Quality...
This label is required by the U.S. Government. It tells you the age and amount of base whiskies in the blend.
Today especially, with the shortage of fine aged whiskies, it's important to know the age and amount of straight whiskies in the blend you buy. That's why we urge you to make sure to look at the back label as well as the front label before you choose a whiskey.
Yes, especially today it's good news to discover that Three Feathers—backed by America's largest reserves of fine old whiskies—continues to give you the same generous quantities of five, six, and seven-year-old whiskies, blended with choice grain neutral spirits. Read this special formula:
*RARE BLENDED WHISKEY
86 proof. The straight whiskies in this product are five years or more old. 35% straight whiskey, 65% grain neutral spirits. 12% whiskey 5 years old. 20% whiskey 6 years old. 3% whiskey 7 years old. Three Feathers Distributors, Inc., New York, N. Y.
Quality Assurance
You are assured of Three Feathers' continued rare good taste because the whiskies in the Three Feathers blend are drawn from America's largest reserves of fully aged, fully matured quality whiskies.

Keyser Recreation Plan Discussed By Prof. Scherlacker

Calls For Diversity Of Board Members

KEYSER, W. Va.—The municipal recreation board should include representatives from the town council, the county court and the school system, Prof. John Scherlacker, West Virginia University, told that body yesterday.

He was also concerned about the method of electing new members to the board when the present terms expire. He stressed the fact that the board should be composed of sincerely interested persons.

Four classifications of recreation to look for, Scherlacker said, in making plans for a recreation program for a community are:

1—General facilities available for all age groups without supervision; such as picnic grounds, ball parks, tennis courts, golf courses, etc.

2—Facilities which require leadership such as playgrounds, recreation centers and gymnasiums.

3—Special interest groups primarily for older teen-agers and adults such as fishing, hunting, gardening, photography, library, dancing, concerts, dramatics and 4—Plans for children and teen-agers who are delinquent.

Existing organizations interested in any one phase of the programs listed above could promote it, Scherlacker said.

He then informed the group that it should decide on one or more of the projects which would benefit the community most.

From talking with the group and from reports he had received before his visit to Keyser, he said the most important need of Keyser is a playground and a recreation center. Scherlacker requested another visit to the city to better view the situation and to confer with the board and other interested citizens.

A discussion was also held concerning the proposed swimming pool for Keyser. Scherlacker explained in detail the various problems and factors of constructing a pool.

A meeting of the recreation board will be held Monday night, September 20, when suggestions by the specialist will be considered and a plan for a recreation program devised. The plan will then be presented to the Town Council.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—(INS)—I confess I was surprised at the news that Ann Sheridan has signed with Polan Banks for three independent movies to be released by RKO. I had a hunch that Annie would shop around in the free lance field for her movies.

Joan Crawford

During the years she was with Warners,, she frequently said she didn't like being tied down, and goodness knows, she weathered her quota of suspensions.

Well, ladies have the privilege of changing their minds and Ann certainly changed hers because Banks has promised Howard Hughes that all three of the Sheridan films will be made within two years.

The line up puts "Carriage Entrance" (Bank's newest novel) first, to be followed by "Women Must Weep" and "The Newport Story." Of course, nothing gets going until Missy Sheridan returns from Europe where she's making "I Was a Male War Bride" with Cary Grant.

Jack Benny is going to make a movie—honest he is! Tweniteth has a commitment with him and he is about to sign for "Everybody Does It" (not a sequel to "The Horn Blows At Midnight.") He's had much fun with the "horn" nonsense.

His "Charlie's Aunt" for 20th was a wow. Then he made "The Meanest Man In the World,' which was neither fish nor fowl—but he's had a million dollars in publicity and gags out of "The Horn," which both he and Jack Warner call the worst picture ever made.

Chit-Chat: I spent one of the most amusing hours I've ever had with Jane Greer, who is so witty and amusing I'm surprised that she hasn't made a comedy.

She's so pretty, too, you don't think of her as laughing at herself, but that's just what she did when she told me story after story of her experiences in Hollywood.

Someday Jane is going to make a picture that will have the whole town talking—whether it will be for Howard Hughes, who was her first boss, or elsewhere I don't know, but I am betting she'll do it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Edgar "Slow Burn" Kennedy is very very ill, his many friends and admirers will be sad to hear.

George Sanders leaves tonight for New York to see Mrs. Sanders, who is under a doctors care. It must be said for George, in spite of his moodiness, he has done everything within his power to help her.

Marion Davies, at the wheel herself, took me for a ride in her new car. I thought I was very brave—this being the second time she had driven the new bus. Then I remembered she used to drive herself and this hasn't any gears, she says, and almost drives itself.

When I asked Humphrey Bogart if it were true that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Natalie Bacall, had just married Leo Goldberg of Chicago, he said, "Yes, and I gave her away." Bogey has always liked his ma-in-law, and he gave her the wedding.

Jerry Wald celebrated his birthday today. He's only 36, and 16 of those years have been spent at Warners.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"He wants you to show him how to 'ride a punch'."

The Fred Niblos have rented their home and gone on a cruise of the Carribean. Marjorie Bennett, Mrs. Niblo's Edna Bennett's) sister, who gave me that news, plays the mother of the bride in Bette Davis' picture "June Bride." I couldn't believe it was Marjory. I remember her as a slim girl, not as a matron. She raved over Bette Davis and Robert Montgomery with whom she loved working.

Peggy Knudsen, one of the prettiest blondes in town, dining at Ciro's with Jim Jordan, Jr. (Molly and Fibber McGee's son).

Mrs. John Garfield has taken their little boy east to put him in school. John will join them later.

Joan Crawford will sing and dance in "Flamingo Road" at Warner's It's the first musical she's done either since "Dancing Lady" at MGM in 1933. She'll warble that old familiar tune, "If I Could Spend One Hour With You Tonight" —and I bet I know whom she'll mean.

That's all today.

Seventy-five years ago, in 1873, Joseph F. Glidden made the first barbed wire at DeKalb, Illinois.

Adolphe Menjou To Star In "The Purloined Letter"

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—For the last of its Friday night broadcasts in a half-hour section, NBC's education cooperative program, The University Theater, is presenting its guests in the person of Adolphe Menjou at 9. He will play in Edgar Allen Poe's "The Purloined Letter". Beginning next week, the program is to shift to Sunday afternoons, where it will be given enough space to revert to the former schedule of hour broadcasting.

The Col. Stoopnagle Quiz Academy of MBS, apparently intended only as a summer replacement, now is no more on that network at 9:30. Instead there is going in at that time the Lionel Hampton Show, which to do so has been moved again.

Prize fighting as indicated in the schedule for ABC at 10 is two welterweights, in person, Paddy Young and Tony Pelone . . . Basil O'Connor of the Red Cross is to give "Humanity's Report" in a CBS talk at 11:15. It's about proposals to outlaw atomic and germ warfare.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Revision, Modification Or Changes

Negotiating for a contract with the Radio Writers Guild, a committee of advertising agencies has just submitted a new definition of employed free lance writers. "Any agreement," runs this definition, "shall cover and shall apply only to free lance writers(as distinct from writers on staff) who are employes of the company while engaged in employe activities (as distinct from independent contractors) and are employed to render personal writing services in the preparation of 'material' (as hereafter to be defined) for radio programs, including, but without limiting the meaning of the term 'employe' as used above, any such employe-writer as to whom the company by contract shall have the right to direct and control the performance of such writer's personal services in making revisions, modifications or changes in material originally prepared by such writer."

John Crosby

I urgently recommend that the Guild reject this definition on the esthetic (as distinct from the legal) grounds that any writer, whether free lance writer, employe-writer or simply a man with a typewriter and an urge for self-expression, would jeopardize his immortal soul (or hereafter) in approving such a tortuous sentence. The definition of a writer, particularly such a contradiction in terms as an employed free lance writer, is not an easy thing but the ad men haven't clarified matters much. If I were the Guild, I'd send it back with a little notation on the margin: "Needs revisions, modifications or changes."

—o—

"Meet the Press," one of the brightest jewels in the diadem of the Mutual Broadcasting System, made its television debut recently on NBC's East Coast network and proved to be an absorbing, though in some respects irritating television show. First person to be interviewed by the press was Elizabeth Bentley, whose drawing power at the moment must be second only to Betty Grable.

I imagine most every one would like to see in action this self-confessed Russian spy whose reports of Soviet espionage have been so provocative and at the same time so nebulous. She didn't disappoint us either. Her answers were delivered with an appearance of wide-eyed candor but were at the same time surprisingly elusive. I was impressed by her earnest and disarming demeanor but for the life of me I can't remember what precisely she she was being earnest and disarming about.

The four reporters assigned to interview Miss Bentley were Nelson Frank, of "The New York World Telegram"; Inez Robb of INS; Cecil Brown, radio commentator; and Laurence Spivak, editor of "The American Mercury." Two of them, Mr. Brown and Miss Robb, appeared to be under the illusion they were prosecuting rather than interrogating. They used a bullying technique which has been employed fairly successfully in ordinary newspaper interviews but which, I bet, will aggravate a lot of listeners. After all, these press conferences are now open to the public and the reporters are as much on display as the interviewee.

Also, I'm not at all sure that Miss Robb, an experienced and capable newspaperwoman, is quite the proper selection for one of these public interviews. I have been on news stories with Miss Robb in the past. Almost invariably, Miss Robb's private life got mixed up somehow with that of the person we were interviewing. If he had had an experience, she had had a parallel experience and she insisted on telling it.

When, for example, Miss Bentley explained the effect of her Vassar education on her descent into Communism, Miss Robb felt compelled to observe that her education had an entirely different effect and went on to explain what it was. These excursions into autoboigraphy are interesting enough but they aren't what the audience tuned in to hear.

"Any agreement," runs this definition, "shall cover and shall apply only to free lance writers(as distinct from writers on staff) who are employes of the company while engaged in employe activities (as distinct from independent contractors) and are employed to render personal writing services in the preparation of 'material' (as hereafter to be defined) for radio programs, including, but without limiting the meaning of the term 'employe' as used above, any such employe-writer as to whom the company by contract shall have the right to direct and control the performance of such writer's personal services in making revisions, modifications or changes in material originally prepared by such writer."

John Crosby

I urgently recommend that the Guild reject this definition on the esthetic (as distinct from the legal) grounds that any writer, whether free lance writer, employe-writer or simply a man with a typewriter and an urge for self-expression, would jeopardize his immortal soul (or hereafter) in approving such a tortuous sentence. The definition of a writer, particularly such a contradiction in terms as an employed free lance writer, is not an easy thing but the ad men haven't clarified matters much. If I were the Guild, I'd send it back with a little notation on the margin: "Needs revisions, modifications or changes."

"Meet the Press," one of the brightest jewels in the diadem of the Mutual Broadcasting System, made its television debut recently on NBC's East Coast network and proved to be an absorbing, though in some respects irritating television show. First person to be interviewed by the press was Elizabeth Bentley, whose drawing power at the moment must be second only to Betty Grable.

I imagine most every one would like to see in action this self-confessed Russian spy whose reports of Soviet espionage have been so provocative and at the same time so nebulous. She didn't disappoint us either. Her answers were delivered with an appearance of wide-eyed candor but were at the same time surprisingly elusive. I was impressed by her earnest and disarming demeanor but for the life of me I can't remember what precisely she she was being earnest and disarming about.

The four reporters assigned to interview Miss Bentley were Nelson Frank, of "The New York World Telegram"; Inez Robb of INS; Cecil Brown, radio commentator; and Laurence Spivak, editor of "The American Mercury." Two of them, Mr. Brown and Miss Robb, appeared to be under the illusion they were prosecuting rather than interrogating. They used a bullying technique which has been employed fairly successfully in ordinary newspaper interviews but which, I bet, will aggravate a lot of listeners. After all, these press conferences are now open to the public and the reporters are as much on display as the interviewee.

Also, I'm not at all sure that Miss Robb, an experienced and capable newspaperwoman, is quite the proper selection for one of these public interviews. I have been on news stories with Miss Robb in the past. Almost invariably, Miss Robb's private life got mixed up somehow with that of the person we were interviewing. If he had had an experience, she had had a parallel experience and she insisted on telling it.

When, for example, Miss Bentley explained the effect of her Vassar education on her descent into Communism, Miss Robb felt compelled to observe that her education had an entirely different effect and went on to explain what it was. These excursions into autobiography are interesting enough but they aren't what the audience tuned in to hear.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Cowboy Acts As Usher

By C. V. BURNS

Two well known Bedford (Pa.) citizens are serving as officials at the three-day harness race meeting which ends today at Fairgo.

They are William Brice, Jr., and Henry Cyril "Bing" Bingham. Brice is an associate judge and Bingham is the presiding judge.

Bingham is the present mayor of Bedford and Brice has been connected with the Bedford Fair for 38 years, serving as president and general manager for the past 20 years.

Brice served as president of the Pennsylvania Association of County Fairs for three years. There are a total of 93 county fairs functioning in the Keystone State.

The Brice family is well known throughout the tri-state area. Bill's brother is none other than Albert "Bud" Brice, who once operated a skating rink and roller coaster at Narrows Park and also staged a number of professional boxing shows there. "Bud" is secretary of the Bedford Fair Association which recently concluded its most successful season in 75 years of operation.

Miss Wilma "Brownie" Brice, daughter of William Brice, Jr., is prominent in county fair circles. She is corresponding secretary of the Bedford Fair, manages the Washington (Pa.) Fair and is also secretary to Joe Chitwood's "Circus of Death"—the death-defying auto thrill and stunt show—which will highlight the Cumberland Fair program tomorrow at 2:15 p. m.

Her father started her on a secretarial career when she was in her teens and she's done remarkably well.

While reminiscing the other day in the judges' stand at Fairgo, Bill Brice recalled the visit here of Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion, with the Sells-Floto Circus. He also mentioned Harry Greb, one of the best middleweight boxers in the history of the ring, and the latter's fights at the Narrows Park Rink. Frank Moran, former heavyweight contender, and possessor of the punch known as the "Mary Ann," also boxed there as did L'il Artha Stigall and Eddie Dorsey.

•—•—•

The elder Brice told one about his brother "Bud" in the days the latter operated the rink at the Park.

It was in mid-winter and a terrific blizzard hit this section. Snow fell to a depth of 28 inches and "Bud" went to the rink that morning for the purpose of transacting some business. When he arrived he took one look and then quickly ran to a telephone to call his partner.

"Come up here in a hurry," Brice instructed his partner.

"What's wrong?" the latter inquired excitedly.

"What's wrong?" shouted "Bud." "Why the roof is on the floor!"

The weight of the snow had caused practically all of the roof to cave in and what used to be a roller rink and boxing arena was now one awful mess.

Brice reports that the Bedford Fair's growth has expanded so rapidly that plans are under way to increase the seating capacity of the grandstand next year. The stands now accommodate 3,000 persons and the crowds during the past season ran between the 5,000 and 10,000 mark.

•—•—•

Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, attributes the small crowds at the harness races to the fact that there is no pari mutuel wagering. He believes that night racing with pari mutuel betting would send the attendance soaring like it did at Laurel Raceway and other tracks sponsoring the sport.

It's costing the fair association about $10,000 to stage the three-day racing program and vaudeville acts.

Joie Chitwood's daredevils are performing here on a percentage basis and White is certain this "thrill show" will pack 'em in tomorrow afternoon.

The acts presented in the afternoon and night at Fairgo this week are without a doubt the best ever booked by the Cumberland Fair Association.

We almost fell out of the grandstand laughing at that Dalmation dog "playing the piano." This act is titled "The Plutocrats" and comprises seven well trained Dalmations that perform marvelously.

The aerial act featuring Janet and Paul is tops and if you see Florence Kim Low, Chinese acrobatic star, perform you'll wonder if the talented contortionist has any bones in her body or is just made of rubber. I've seen many acts of this type but Miss Low goes to the head of our list.

It's a show well worth dropping in to see tonight or Saturday night at Fairgo.

Charley Krapf, sportscaster for Cumberland's new radio station, informs us that he has received definite word that WCUM will be on the national hook-up for the 1948 World Series which gets under way Wednesday, October 6.

This should be welcome news to baseball fans who were unable to get out-of-town stations in the past due to all kinds of interference.

Some cowboys are just as rough and tough as they are pictured on the screen.

At least that's what four young men found out the other day at a local theater during a personal appearance of Dynamite Don "Red" Barry.

The group was heckling and causing a general disturbance and Hollywood's fightin', ropin', shootin' star, minus his horse, moved in like a real western movie sheriff and warned:

"Pardners, I'm not letting anyone break up my show."

Then the cowboy escorted the trouble makers out of the cinema house one at a time.

We understand one of our "surprise fighters" was in the group and he never got a chance to throw a punch.

Nice going, Mr. Barry!

John Hafer, who has managed numerous sandlot baseball teams in this section for the past several years, is a patient at Allegany Hospital.

The former Centerville Reds and Loyal Order of Moose pilot is laid up with pneumonia.

Here's hoping the old campaigner gets well.

St. John's Wins Final, Plays Grace For Title

St. John's advanced to the finals of the South Cumberland Church Softball League playoffs by taking the third and deciding game of its series with Trinity yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 17-16.

The three-game series between St. John's and Grace Methodist will be played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Penn Avenue Field at 6 p. m.

The winning run in yesterday's game was scored when Gene Howell booted Bill Hixenbaugh's grounder with the bases full, enabling Weltman to cross the plate.

"Bub" Frye paced the losers with a homer, double and single and John Wolfe had four safeties.

Trinity won the series opener, 3-2, and St. John's copped the second game, 13-2. Score:

Bucs Get 18 Hits To Give Chesnes Win Over Giants

Pittsburgh Cops 10-6; Invades Boston Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Bob Chesnes, rookie righthander from the Pacific Coast League, survived a five-run fifth inning to go the route and pitch the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-6 victory over the New York Giants today.

Bob Chesnes

Ed Bockman, substitute third baseman paced the Pirates' 18-hit attack off five pitchers with a triple and three singles. The triumph cut Boston's first place lead over the Pirates to four and a half games.

The Pirates now move to Boston for a crucial two-game series with the Braves on Friday and Saturday.

The Giants used 19 men in an effort to stop the Pirates. The New Yorkers' big fifth frame started when Chesnes suffered a wild spell after two were out and walked Jack Lohrke, Whitey Lockman and Sid Gordon in succession to fill the bases.

John Mize then doubled to score three runs and was brought home himself when Willard Marshall homered into the right field stands.

The Pirates counted four in the sixth on five hits, including Danny Murtaugh's two-run triple. Box:

To Play Exhibition

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16. (AP)—The Chicago Bears will bring their strengthened eleven, with which they hope to regain the National Football League title, to Baltimore Municipal Stadium for an exhibition game Sunday with the Washington Redskins.

RIDDLE INJURED BY BATTED BALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the temporary loss of pitcher Elmer Riddle, suffering a leg infection caused by a batted ball.

Manager Bill Meyer, whose pennant spurt is being slowed by a badly taxed pitching corps, said medical treatment would lay Riddle up for several days and possibly the rest of the season.

Riddle, with a 12 and 10 record, was the talk of the league in the spring, when his series of victories kept the Pirates above water.

Philip Hancock And Brew Up Win Harness Events

Fairgo's Three-Day Meet Will End Today

Horsemen of Baltimore and Emmitsburg, Md., and Indiana, Pa., took top money in the three events on the harness racing program at the Cumberland Fair Grounds.

Brew Up, a three-year-old filly, owned by R. Woods, Baltimore, and driven by "Bud" Thomas, won all three hits in the open number, a 22 trot, and hung up the fastest time of the day on the second heat by negotiating the mile in 2 minutes, 15 seconds.

Philip Hancock, a bay gelding, owned by Robert Holt, Jr., of Indiana, Pa., swept all three heats in the 22 pace, the final race on the card. Carl Wallace drove the winner.

After finishing second to Willmite in the opening heat, Breeze Hanover, owned by M. F. Keiholtz, Emmitsburg, Md., with Walter Bolton in the sulky, won the last two heats in the 18 pace, the program's No. 2 race.

A small crowd witnessed the trotters and pacers and a series of excellent vaudeville acts that were presented during intermission between heats in each race.

Announcement was made yesterday that Harry Spidle, of Shippensburg, Pa., purchased Ruth's Day, bay horse by Guy Day, from William L. Brewer of Baltimore for $1,250. Ruth's Day won three straight heats on Wednesday in the free-for-all trot, and set the fastest time of the meet for trotters by running the mile in 2:14 2-5. The horse has earned purses totaling over $12,000.

Owners received purses totaling $1,145 for the three races yesterday. The straight heat victories of Brew Up and Philip Hancock netted their owners $180 each.

The three-day session will be concluded today with a program of three races. Each race will be run in three one-mile heats. The first event will get under way at 1:30 p. m.

Yankees Divide Twin Bill With Detroit Tigers

Bengals Bag 1st, 2-1; New York Scores, 8-4

DETROIT, Sept. 16 (AP)—Beaten 2-1 in the opener, the second-place New York Yankees came from behind to split a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers today, clubbing out 12 hits to beat the Tigers 8 to 4 in the nightcap. The split kept the Yankees a game-and-a-half behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox which plays at St. Louis tonight.

Freddie Hutchinson checked New York's pennant aspirations momentarily by hurling a neat four-hitter against the World Champions in the first game but explosive Yankee power pulled the nightcap out of the fire.

DODGERS SINK REDS

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers somewhat rekindled their dimming pennant hopes today by defeating Cincinnati, 12-6.

It was Brooklyn's 18th win in 22 starts against the Reds this season and moved them into clear possession of third place over the idle St. Louis Cardinals. However, the Dodgers still trail the league-leading Boston Braves by five full games.

Brooklyn's smallest crowd of the year, 4,094, witnessed the game. Box:

Westvaco Blanked By Elwood May, 3-0

Moorefield Sweeps Two-Game Series

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 16—Elwood May, pitching star of the Pulaski (Va.) Counts of the Appalachian League, celebrated his return home today by fast-balling the Moorefield American Legion nine to a 3 to 0 victory over the Westvaco Club of the Bi-State League before one of the largest crowds to witness a contest here this year.

May, who hails from Mathias, and is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, let the Papermakers down with three hits—two of which were triples by Tysinger and Pattison—and struckout eight batsmen. He retired the side on strikes in the 4th and fanned the first batter to face him in the 5th frame.

The victory gave Moorefield a sweep of its two-game series with the Bi-Staters.

Tysinger tripled on the first pitch in the opening frame, Elmer Marsh singled in the 2nd and Pattison banged a three-bagger in the 6th to account for all of the visitors' hits.

"Grumbles" Michaels went the route for Westvaco, gave up six hits and fanned four.

The game was limited to seven innings on account of darkness. Score:

Filly Tosses Jockey Over Fence And Down Bel Air Embankment

BEL AIR, Md., Sept. 16 (AP)—The sharp curves of the six-furlong track here proved too much for Sky Pattern, a two-year-old filly, in the third race today.

Sky Pattern got around the first three turns under prodding from Jockey Stanley Austin. The skittish juvenile who had never raced at a small track before, refused to make the turn for home, however.

She ran straight into the outside rail and pitched Austin over the fence. He rolled 15 feet down a grassy embankment. Neither the jockey nor thoroughbred was injured.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Messrs. Phil Carolan and James Gaffney made their home debut as head coaches of the LaSalle High School football team a successful one last night before a crowd of approximately 3,000 local grid fans as the Explorers romped off with a 19-0 decision over the Berlin (Pa.) Mountaineers, at Fort Hill stadium.

Showing signs of excellent tutelage in pass defense and downfield blocking, exponents which former LaSalle gridders seemed to lack the past few seasons, the Blue and Gold exploded for two quick touchdowns on sparkling 58 and 61-yard runs by Quarterback Mickey Clark in the third quarter after taking a 6-0 lead early in the second stanza on a 43-yard march.

Sitter Intercepts Pass

After keeping the visiting Pennsylvanians on the defensive throughout most of the first quarter in which they racked up no less than eight first downs, the Explorers gained possession of the ball on the Berlin 43 after Chuck Sitter intercepted Jim Frener's pass.

Taking advantage of the opportunity LaSalle cracked over for the initial score in just eight plays, a 19-yard aerial from Clark to Dick Leo featuring the drive. Bob Carey raced around left end for the six-pointer from the one-yard stripe on the third play of the second period. Clark's pass intended for Sitter in the end zone for the extra point was incomplete and LaSalle led 6-0.

With Lee Donner sparking the attack with 17 and 11 yard runs Berlin made its first threat of the game after receiving the kickoff but the drive was stalled when the alert defenses of the Explorers intercepted another Frener pass and carried the ball out of danger.

Most of the play took place in mid-field thereafter until late in the third canto when Merl Queer's punt went out of bounds on the Explorer 35-yard stripe.

Clark Dashes 58 Yards

Bob Hudson, bulwark of the locals' offensive, smashed through for seven yards and then Clark brought the crowd to its feet with a scintillating 58-yard scamper through the center of the Berlin team for the second LaSalle counter. Expert downfield blocking by the entire Explorer team enabled Clark to go all the way to the end zone. Bob Arnone threw the key block taking out the Berlin safety man on the 10. Hudson ran the extra point.

Almost before the crowd had settled back in its seats Clark intercepted Donner's overhead thrust on the second play after the ensuing kickoff and romped 61 yards for the third and final tally for LaSalle. Again the excellent blocking of the entire Explorer team let the scatback get loose. Clark's pass for the point missed.

Twice Explorer touchdowns were called back, once when Dick Leo blocked Frener's punt on the five and scampered into the end zone with the ball and again when Francis Kitzmiller intercepted a fumble in mid-air and raced 65 yards to score. The Explorer forward wall was detected offside on the first play and the whistle had stopped the second before the ball was fumbled.

Hudson Gains 114 Yards

Bob Hudson picked up a net total of 114 yards rushing for LaSalle in 20 times he carried the ball for a 5.7 yard average per carry while Clark scampered a net total of 59 yards in seven tries for 8.4 and Bob Carey romped 55 yards in 10 tries for a 5.5 average to spark the Explorer offensive. Chuck Sitter, Bob Herstine and Dick Leo were outstanding on the line for the winners.

Frener carried the pigskin 18 times for a net total of 58 yards and a 3.2 average while Donner picked up 33 yards in 10 thrusts for a 3.3 rating, to highlight the Berlin express. Bill Webreck and Nick Petro were the best Berlin linesmen. The lineup:

Cowboy Acts As Usher

By C. V. BURNS

Two well known Bedford (Pa.) citizens are serving as officials at the three-day harness race meeting which ends today at Fairgo.

They are William Brice, Jr., and Henry Cyril "Bing" Bingham. Brice is an associate judge and Bingham is the presiding judge.

Bingham is the present mayor of Bedford and Brice has been connected with the Bedford Fair for 38 years, serving as president and general manager for the past 20 years.

Brice served as president of the Pennsylvania Association of County Fairs for three years. There are a total of 93 county fairs functioning in the Keystone State.

The Brice family is well known throughout the tri-state area. Bill's brother is none other than Albert "Bud" Brice, who once operated a skating rink and roller coaster at Narrows Park and also staged a number of professional boxing shows there. "Bud" is secretary of the Bedford Fair Association which recently concluded its most successful season in 75 years of operation.

Miss Wilma "Brownie" Brice, daughter of William Brice, Jr., is prominent in county fair circles. She is corresponding secretary of the Bedford Fair, manages the Washington (Pa.) Fair and is also secretary to Joe Chitwood's "Circus of Death"—the death-defying auto thrill and stunt show—which will highlight the Cumberland Fair program tomorrow at 2:15 p. m.

Her father started her on a secretarial career when she was in her teens and she's done remarkably well.

While reminiscing the other day in the judges' stand at Fairgo, Bill Brice recalled the visit here of Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion, with the Sells-Floto Circus. He also mentioned Harry Greb, one of the best middleweight boxers in the history of the ring, and the latter's fights at the Narrows Park Rink. Frank Moran, former heavyweight contender, and possessor of the punch known as the "Mary Ann," also boxed there as did L'il Artha Stigall and Eddie Dorsey.

●—●—●

The elder Brice told one about his brother "Bud" in the days the latter operated the rink at the Park.

It was in mid-winter and a terrific blizzard hit this section. Snow fell to a depth of 28 inches and "Bud" went to the rink that morning for the purpose of transacting some business. When he arrived he took one look and then quickly ran to a telephone to call his partner.

"Come up here in a hurry," Brice instructed his partner.

"What's wrong?" the latter inquired excitedly.

"What's wrong?" shouted "Bud." "Why the roof is on the floor!"

The weight of the snow had caused practically all of the roof to cave in and what used to be a roller rink and boxing arena was now one awful mess.

●—●—●

Brice reports that the Bedford Fair's growth has expanded so rapidly that plans are under way to increase the seating capacity of the grandstand next year. The stands now accommodate 3,000 persons and the crowds during the past season ran between the 5,000 and 10,000 mark.

●—●—●

Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, attributes the small crowds at the harness races to the fact that there is no pari mutuel wagering. He believes that night racing with pari mutuel betting would send the attendance soaring like it did at Laurel Raceway and other tracks sponsoring the sport.

It's costing the fair association about $10,000 to stage the three-day racing program and vaudeville acts.

Joie Chitwood's daredevils are performing here on a percentage basis and White is certain this "thrill show" will pack 'em in tomorrow afternoon.

The acts presented in the afternoon and night at Fairgo this week are without a doubt the best ever booked by the Cumberland Fair Association.

We almost fell out of the grandstand laughing at that Dalmation dog "playing the piano." This act is titled "The Plutocrats" and comprises seven well trained Dalmations that perform marvelously.

The aerial act featuring Janet and Paul is tops and if you see Florence Kim Low, Chinese acrobatic star, perform you'll wonder if the talented contortionist has any bones in her body or is just made of rubber. We've seen many acts of this type but Miss Low goes to the head of our list.

It's a show well worth dropping in to see tonight or Saturday night at Fairgo.

Charley Krapf, sportscaster for Cumberland's new radio station, informs us that he has received definite word that WCUM will be on the national hook-up for the 1948 World Series which gets under way Wednesday, October 6.

This should be welcome news to baseball fans who were unable to get out-of-town stations in the past due to all kinds of interference.

Some cowboys are just as rough and tough as they are pictured on the screen.

At least that's what four young men found out the other day at a local theater during a personal appearance of Dynamite Don "Red" Barry.

The group was heckling and causing a general disturbance and Hollywood's fightin', ropin', shootin' star, minus his horse, moved in like a real western movie sheriff and warned:

"Pardners, I'm not letting anyone break up my show."

Then the cowboy escorted the trouble makers out of the cinema house one at a time.

We understand one of our "surprise fighters" was in the group and he never got a chance to throw a punch.

Nice going, Mr. Barry!

John Hafer, who has managed numerous sandlot baseball teams in this section for the past several years, is a patient at Allegany Hospital.

RIDDLE INJURED BY BATTED BALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the temporary loss of pitcher Elmer Riddle, suffering a leg infection caused by a batted ball.

Manager Bill Meyer, whose pennant spurt is being slowed by a badly taxed pitching corps, said medical treatment would lay Riddle up for several days and possibly the rest of the season.

Riddle, with a 12 and 10 record, was the talk of the league in the spring, when his series of victories kept the Pirates above water.

Pittsburgh Cops 10-6; Invades Boston Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Bob Chesnes, rookie righthander from the Pacific Coast League, survived a five-run fifth inning to go the route and pitch the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-6 victory over the New York Giants today.

Bob Chesnes

Ed Bockman, substitute third baseman paced the Pirates' 18-hit attack off five pitchers with a triple and three singles. The triumph cut Boston's first place lead over the Pirates to four and a half games.

The Pirates now move to Boston for a crucial two-game series with the Braves on Friday and Saturday.

The Giants used 19 men in an effort to stop the Pirates. The New Yorkers' big fifth frame started when Chesnes suffered a wild spell after two were out and walked Jack Lohrke, Whitey Lockman and Sid Gordon in succession to fill the bases.

John Mize then doubled to score three runs and was brought home himself when Willard Marshall homered into the right field stands.

The Pirates counted four in the sixth on five hits, including Danny Murtaugh's two-run triple. Box:

Philip Hancock And Brew Up Win Harness Events

Fairgo's Three-Day Meet Will End Today

Horsemen of Baltimore and Emmitsburg, Md., and Indiana, Pa., took top money in the three events on the harness racing program at the Cumberland Fair Grounds.

Brew Up, a three-year-old filly, owned by R. Woods, Baltimore, and driven by "Bud" Thomas, won all three hits in the open number, a 22 trot, and hung up the fastest time of the day on the second heat by negotiating the mile in 2 minutes, 15 seconds.

Philip Hancock, a bay gelding, owned by Robert Holt, Jr., of Indiana, Pa., swept all three heats in the 22 pace, the final race on the card. Carl Wallace drove the winner.

After finishing second to Willmite in the opening heat, Breeze Hanover, owned by M. F. Keiholtz, Emmitsburg, Md., with Walter Bolton in the sulky, won the last two heats in the 18 pace, the program's No. 2 race.

A small crowd witnessed the trotters and pacers and a series of excellent vaudeville acts that were presented during intermission between heats in each race.

Announcement was made yesterday that Harry Spidle, of Shippensburg, Pa., purchased Ruth's Day, bay horse by Guy Day, from William L. Brewer of Baltimore for $1,250. Ruth's Day won three straight heats on Wednesday in the free-for-all trot, and set the fastest time of the meet for trotters by running the mile in 2:14 2-5. The horse has earned purses totaling over $12,000.

Owners received purses totaling $1,145 for the three races yesterday. The straight heat victories of Brew Up and Philip Hancock netted their owners $180 each.

Yankees Divide Twin Bill With Detroit Tigers

Bengals Bag 1st, 2-1; New York Scores, 8-4

DETROIT, Sept. 16 (AP)—Beaten 2-1 in the opener, the second-place New York Yankees came from behind to split a doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers today, clubbing out 12 hits to beat the Tigers 8 to 4 in the nightcap. The split kept the Yankees a game-and-a-half behind the league-leading Boston Red Sox which plays at St. Louis tonight.

Freddie Hutchinson checked New York's pennant aspirations momentarily by hurling a neat four-hitter against the World Champions in the first game but explosive Yankee power pulled the nightcap out of the fire.

Hayden Phillips, Potomac Valley Ace, Blanks Park

Cubs And Wellersburg To Open Series Today

Hayden Phillips pitched Manager Oberlin Chaney's Potomac Valley Cubs into the finals of the County Softball League's playoffs by tossing a one-hitter and blanking Narrows Park's Cardinals by the score of 7-0 yesterday at Pinto.

Potomac Valley won the opening game of the best-of-three games series on Wednesday via the forfeit route when the Park team walked off the field following a dispute over an umpire's decision.

Shaffer, pinch-hitting for Hartsock, singled to centerfield for the lone hit yielded by Phillips in yesterday's game. Only 24 batsmen faced the Cubs' ace in the 7-inning contest and only one runner advanced to second base. It was Phillips' 18th win of the season against four setbacks. He fanned three and failed to issue a pass.

Paul Lease sparked the Cubs' 13-hit attack on Raupach, J. Horn and Wolfe with three hits in four trips to the plate. Bill Thompson, Paul Kemp and "Biff" Sherman rapped two hits each. One of Thompson's blows was a two-bagger.

It was decided last night to open the best-of-five games series between Wellersburg and Potomac Valley today at 6 p. m. at Pinto. Wellersburg moved into the finals by winning two straight from the Hyndman Piremen. During the regular league season Wellersburg finished in first place and Potomac Valley was the runner-up.

Wellersburg players are requested to be ready to leave at 5 p. m. for today's contest. The score:

Westvaco Blanked By Elwood May, 3-0

Moorefield Sweeps Two-Game Series

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 16—Elwood May, pitching star of the Pulaski (Va.) Counts of the Appalachian League, celebrated his return home today by fast-balling the Moorefield American Legion nine to a 3 to 0 victory over the Westvaco Club of the Bi-State League before one of the largest crowds to witness a contest here this year.

May, who hails from Mathias, and is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers, let the Papermakers down with three hits—two of which were triples by Tysinger and Pattison—and struckout eight batsmen. He retired the side on strikes in the 4th and fanned the first batter to face him in the 5th frame.

The victory gave Moorefield a sweep of its two-game series with the Bi-Staters.

Tysinger tripled on the first pitch n the opening frame, Elmer Marsh singled in the 2nd and Pattison banged a three-bagger in the 6th to account for all of the visitors' hits.

"Grumbles" Michaels went the route for Westvaco, gave up six hits and fanned four.

The game was limited to seven innings on account of darkness. Score:

Filly Tosses Jockey Over Fence And Down Bel Air Embankment

BEL AIR, Md., Sept. 16 (AP)—The sharp curves of the six-furlong track here proved too much for Sky Pattern, a two-year-old filly, in the third race today.

Sky Pattern got around the first three turns under prodding from Jockey Stanley Austin. The skittish juvenile who had never raced at a small track before, refused to make the turn for home, however.

She ran straight into the outside rail and pitched Austin over the fence. He rolled 15 feet down a grassy embankment. Neither the jockey nor thoroughbred was injured.

LACY'S AND AMVETS MEET TODAY IN 2ND CONTEST OF SERIES

Lacy's Delicatets and the Amvets will lock horns in the second battle of their playoff series for the City Softball League championship today at 6 p. m. at Community Park.

The Amvets annexed the opener of the best-of-five games series on Monday by the score of 2-1.

Announcement was made last night that the Delicatets will play without the services of their regular third baseman, June Hardy, who underwent an appendectomy yesterday at a local hospital. Walter "Pooch" Orndorff will likely take Hardy's place in the lineup.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Messrs. Phil Carolan and James Gaffney made their home debut as head coaches of the LaSalle High School football team a successful one last night before a crowd of approximately 3,000 local grid fans as the Explorers romped off with a 19-0 decision over the Berlin (Pa.) Mountaineers, at Fort Hill stadium.

Showing signs of excellent tutelage in pass defense and downfield blocking, exponents which former LaSalle gridders seemed to lack the past few seasons, the Blue and Gold exploded for two quick touchdowns on sparkling 58 and 61-yard runs by Quarterback Mickey Clark in the third quarter after taking a 6-0 lead early in the second stanza on a 43-yard march.

Sitter Intercepts Pass

After keeping the visiting Pennsylvanians on the defensive throughout most of the first quarter in which they racked up no less than eight first downs, the Explorers gained possession of the ball on the Berlin 43 after Chuck Sitter intercepted Jim Frener's pass.

Taking advantage of the opportunity LaSalle cracked over for the initial score in just eight plays, a 19-yard aerial from Clark to Dick Leo featuring the drive. Bob Carey raced around left end for the six-pointer from the one-yard stripe on the third play of the second period. Clark's pass intended for Sitter in the end zone for the extra point was incomplete and LaSalle led 6-0.

Again the excellent blocking of the entire Explorer team let the scatback get loose. Clark's pass for the point missed.

Twice Explorer touchdowns were called back, once when Dick Leo blocked Frener's punt on the five and scampered into the end zone with the ball and again when

INSULATION
INFORMATION
If you are not interested in a complete insulation job but want to enjoy the comfort and economy of insulation... We would suggest insulating the attic. This would give you the most for your money and if it is an open attic you cannot get a better insulating material than ZONOLITE — It Pours!
We also have FIBERGLAS WOOL INSULATION. It comes in rolls, you unroll it between joists, studs and rafters. Fiberglas Wool is an excellent insulating material and is practical in many installations.

Quiet Market, Under Rail And Steel Leadership, Closes Slightly Higher

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — A quiet and irregular stock market today ended slightly higher under the leadership of rails and steels.

Trading volume of 580,000 shares was at the lowest ebb since August 27. The final hour hit 190,000 shares.

Most of the price changes were in the smaller fractions. The outstanding exception was Santa Fe which moved up 3¼ points to 119⅝ and led the remainder of the rail group into higher territory.

Steels twice edged up from the losing side and finally closed fractions higher as a group.

The mail order and retail group ended a little better on average with both J. C. Penney and Montgomery Ward up three-fourths.

Chemicals were mostly higher with Allied Chemical up one at 183.

The big four packers, the object of a civil anti-trust suit filed yesterday in Chicago by the Justice Department, declined fractions to a point. Swift was off one at 30, and Armour was off one-eighth at 9⅝, both new lows for the year. Wilson and Cudahy were down one-eighth.

Others on the downside included Pepsi-Cola off five-eighths to 11¼, a new low for the year. Holly Sugar off five-eighths at 24¾, Cerro De Pasco off three-fourths at 24¼, American Woolen, Standard Oil (NJ), Gulf Oil, General Motors, and American Tobacco.

Among those showing increases were United States Steel up three-eighths at 80⅜, Rock Island up three-fourths at 40⅛, United States Gypsum, Dow Chemical, Bendix Aviation, Firestone, and Republic Steel.

A new $25,000,000 utility bond issue took the edge off interest in the listed market.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Reuben B. Dean vs. Allie V. Dean. No. 20870 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states the parties were married on the 16th day of May, 1935, in Hagerstown, Maryland; that no children were born of the marriage; that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 29th day of May, 1943, without just cause or reason; that the desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than two years next before the filing of his suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.
It is thereupon this 2nd day of September, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of October, 1948, give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 20th day of October, 1948, to show cause, if any she may have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Quiet Market, Under Rail And Steel Leadership, Closes Slightly Higher

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — A quiet and irregular stock market today ended slightly higher under the leadership of rails and steels.

Trading volume of 580,000 shares was at the lowest ebb since August 27. The final hour hit 190,000 shares.

Most of the price changes were in the smaller fractions. The outstanding exception was Santa Fe which moved up 3¼ points to 119⅝ and led the remainder of the rail group into higher territory.

Steels twice edged up from the losing side and finally closed fractions higher as a group.

The mail order and retail group ended a little better on average with both J. C. Penney and Montgomery Ward up three-fourths.

Chemicals were mostly higher with Allied Chemical up one at 183.

The big four packers, the object of a civil anti-trust suit filed yesterday in Chicago by the Justice Department, declined fractions to a point. Swift was off one at 30, and Armour was off one-eighth at 9⅝, both new lows for the year. Wilson and Cudahy were down one-eighth.

Others on the downside included Pepsi-Cola off five-eighths to 11¼, a new low for the year, Holly Sugar off five-eighths at 24⅞, Cerro De Pasco off three-fourths at 24¼, American Woolen, Standard Oil (NJ), Gulf Oil, General Motors, and American Tobacco.

Among those showing increases were United States Steel up three-eighths at 80¾, Rock Island up three-fourths at 40¼, United States Gypsum, Dow Chemical, Bendix Aviation, Firestone, and Republic Steel.

A new $25,000,000 utility bond issue took the edge off interest in the listed market.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Reuben B. Dean vs. Allie V. Dean. No. 20870 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states the parties were married on the 16th day of May, 1935, in Hagerstown, Maryland; that no children were born of the marriage; that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 29th day of May, 1943, without just cause or reason; that the desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than two years next before the filing of his suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.
It is thereupon this 2nd day of September, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of October, 1948, give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 20th day of October, 1948, to show cause, if any she may have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Police Order Gypsy Band To Leave County

Set Up Camp Briefly At Local Fair Ground

A band of gypsies, men, women and children, last night were ordered out of Allegany County shortly after they set up their colony at the Fair Grounds and began the ancient gypsie practice of telling fortunes.

The group, numbering more than 50, were spotted by county authorities last night at Fairgo, where the five-day Greater Cumberland Fair is in progress, and were immediately ordered out of the county. They are forbidden by law to set up camp in Allegany County.

Law enforcement officers said the band was gathered together and instructed to begin packing immediately for eviction from Allegany County. After close to an hour of preparations the gypsie cars began moving with orders not to stop until they crossed the state line.

Authorities said they were not escorted to the line, but they assumed the band headed into West Virginia. Local authorities said they are not familiar with the laws in the neighboring state and did not know if the group would be allowed to camp in any section there.

At the time they were spotted, officers assigned to the Fair Grounds said, the adult members were soliciting trade in the fortune telling business.

The women and children were dressed in the colorful regalia long associated with the gypsie bands that have roamed the highways in the United States for many years.

The men of the band were dressed in modern day fashion and busied themselves with securing the encampment which was hurriedly set up late yesterday afternoon when the gypsies arrived.

Authorities said they were unable to learn where the band migrated from or where they were camping before coming here. No arrests were made, enforcement officers said, since the band headed the initial warning and began packing immediately.

No complaints of "gypsie activities" were regestered with any of the local law enforcement agencies, the officers said.

Apples By-Pass Martinsburg

Apples from this area are reported moving to market in quantities despite a strike which has tied up the Martinsburg packing plant of the National Fruit Products Company for the past two weeks.

Fruit growers in the Levels and Romney area and some Hancock orchardists have been forced to route the fruit to other processing plants, it was reported.

Growers in the rich Tri-State apple belt moved their harvest to market in volume this week as the federal conciliation service took further steps to end the two-week-old strike at the Martinsburg plant of the National Fruit Products Company.

The service has scheduled another bargaining meeting here Thursday between management of the processing plant and representatives of District 50, United Mine Workers Union. The mine workers represent the 125 men who walked off their jobs at the plant about two weeks ago.

The contract between the company and its workers expired some two months ago. Several fruitless negotiating sessions were held before the workers walked off their jobs.

Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia growers are marketing their Jonathan, Red Delicious and Grimes apples at this time. The heaviest yields for the belt this year are expected from the Rome and York varieties which will not be harvested until next month.

The Grimes crop, showing some rust damage from frost, is facing a comparatively poor market. The market is active, however, for Jonathan and Red Delicious.

Other organizations who wish a place in the line of march, and an invitation has been extended to any group which desires to take part in the Freedom demonstration, should phone 807 for placement.

Mercury climbed to a maximum of 78, the same as the day before, but in early morning hours dropped to a chilly minimum of 49 above. The temperature last night at 11 o'clock was officially, a not uncomfortable 63, just six degrees warmer than the previous night at the same time.

CAB Decision Is Termed Step For Air Service Here

Hearing Planned Within 60 Days

An All American Aviation airline official termed "a step in the right direction" toward providing passenger air service in Cumberland the recommendation of a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner that the line's application for the suspension of its certificate on Route 49 be granted, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported yesterday.

Smith said Senator Herbert O'Conor wired yesterday that the Civil Aeronautics Board informed him the application of All American Aviation, Inc., for the suspension of its certificate on Route 49 had been approved.

Senator O'Conor added he hoped the move would clarify the situation with regard to the initiation of service to and from the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The line has been operating air pick up service with no right to carry passengers.

D. L. Miller, traffic manager of the line, clarified the report in a telephone conversation with Smith, saying the action was only the recommendation of an examiner of the board. He said oral argument on the petition will be scheduled before the board within 60 days.

The company is seeking to have its present certificate on Route 49 suspended in order to clear the way for a later application which covers passengers as well as mail service.

Approval of the latter application cannot be made until the present certificate of operation is suspended.

The company has reported it could initiate service in Cumberland by next February or March if the proper certificate is granted and certain technical difficulties solved.

Returning Milk Bottles To Dealers Urged

Health Officer Cites Regulations

Stating that "entirely too many" discarded milk bottles are finding their way into garbage cans, trash cans and the city dump, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, yesterday urged Cumberland residents to return the bottles to milk dealers instead of throwing them away.

Local dairy firms estimate that failure of householders to return the empty bottles means that from 20,000 to 30,000 milk bottles must be replaced monthly at a cost of from $1,200 to $3,000.

The penny charge made for the bottles by local grocers reduces the loss to some extent, however, dairy officials said.

Although area dairies have been able to obtain replacements, trouble is being experienced in other cities because of container shortage and increased cost of the bottles.

Dr. Frantz pointed out that it is unlawful to permit the use of any containers used in the processing or packing of milk or milk products for any other purpose whatsoever.

In addition, the law provides that no person to whom milk or milk products have been delivered in returnable containers may use the containers for any other purpose.

Empty milk bottles should be thoroughly cleaned and returned to the distributor, Dr. Frantz said.

275 Appointments Made For Orthopedic Clinic

Mrs. Annan said clinic hours today will be from 8:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. and tomorrow from 8:30 a. m. until noon.

Traffic Bureau Plans Main Stem "Speed Up"

Plans to drain traffic off of Baltimore Street "much faster" were begun yesterday as the Traffic Department marked new channels to be followed by motorists over Henderson Avenue and Park Street.

The Henderson Avenue change, minor in nature, is expected to avoid long lines of waiting automobiles that are delayed by motorists seeking to cross blocked railroad tracks.

The program calls for two lanes of west bound traffic, according to Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, who explained that all west bound through traffic will keep to the extreme right. Motorists turning into streets leading to the business secion will use the middle lane.

Channels To Be Marked

The channels were laid out yesterday and will be painted this morning. Lt. Lilya said efforts to keep all through traffic in the right lane will prevent motorists waiting for a clear crossing from tying up all traffic.

On Park Street a similar procedure will be followed with traffic seeking to reach Henderson Avenue by use of the Route 40 by pass keeping to the extreme right. Traffic headed toward Baltimore Street will use the middle lane.

This again, Lt. Lilya explained, will prevent motorists blocked at the Baltimore Street railroad crossing from tying up all traffic. With this plan being followed the YMCA Circle will be kept free of all traffic when trains have the crossing blocked.

Don't Block The Other Fellow

With open lanes waiting to receive traffic that has been blocked on Baltimore Street by the train once the crossing is cleared, the congested traffic will be able to drain off the main artery quickly.

For persons who have trouble understanding the procedure the rule is simply this: If you are going to take a route that may be delayed by a train get in the middle lane. This will hold good on either Henderson Avenue or Park Street.

LAST DRAFT GROUP IS BEING REGISTERED

The last group of men 18 through 25 to register in the peacetime draft will sign up today and tomorrow, local draft officials announced yesterday.

After Saturday, youths of this section who became 18 have five days to report to Selective Service headquarters on the second floor of the Windsor Hotel.

Persons who were unable to enroll during the two-week registration period should sign up as soon as possible, but for the rest of the week that registration will be in the schools only.

FOE To Be First Fraternal Group In Cresaptown

When John T. Corrigan, deputy grand auditor of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, institutes a new Eagles Aerie at Cresaptown Monday night, the Eagles will have established the first fraternal organization in that community.

Herman L. Myers, member of the Maryland Organization Board of the Eagles, said last night that the order, realizing the rapid growth of Cresaptown, started a survey of the town and the surrounding area last December.

As a result of the survey it was decided to allocate a charter for the area, which was done July 1. Myers said that, although the Firemen's Hall in Cresaptown is the present meeting place, the Eagles plan to have a home of their own as soon as possible.

Myers said the institution will take place at 7:30 p. m. The organizer said he expected more than 100 charter members to attend the institution and initiation.

Myers has predicted the aerie will reach a membership of 300 within the year.

Retirement Plan Explained To ORC Unit Members

Means Of Obtaining Points Discussed

In a sketchy manner members of the 208th Composit Unit of the Army Organized Reserve Corps, learned last night how they can, under existing regulations, qualify for retirement, promotion and inactive status pay.

The speaker who addressed the unit was Col. Carleton Coulter, Jr., senior instructor of the Organized Reserves of the Maryland Military District.

For retirement, Col. Coulter said, reservists must have 20 years of satisfactory service, either active, inactive, or both. To qualify for inactive service, as satisfactory, he said, it is necessary to accumulate 50 points a year.

This can be obtained through three basic channels and a series of lesser training periods or correspondence courses. The reservist received 15 points for belonging to a reserve unit and one point for each drill or lecture period attended.

Through these two regulations, 208th reservists can possibly accumulate 39 points a year, leaving 11 points that must be obtained annually to qualify him for retirement at the age of 65.

Summer Training

One means of obtaining the additional points needed is by attendance at summer camp for a two-weeks period each year while correspondence courses offered by Army-approved units is another means.

These were the only avenues to retirement discussed last night in any detail, but Col. Coulter said it is his belief that "any reservist who sets out to do it, can obtain the necessary retirement qualificaions."

For promoions which are open to enlisted men of the AOR as well as officers the first requirement is that there be an existing vacancy. Then the reservist applying for promotion must have the previous qualifications.

Such qualifications can be obtained, Col. Coulter said, by a period of active service in the lower grade plus graduation from a service school appropriate to the reservist's Army component and grade.

Promotion Qualifications

Also considered as promotion qualification material is six months service in a grade by an applicant during World War II. This the colonel explained means that if a man served in a capacity requiring a grade that he was not promoted to, it is qualification material.

Pay for reservists appeared to be the point furtherist removed from the 208th unit's reservist, according to the explanation last night for the training unit must have a specified number of drill periods assigned to it by the Army Department.

The local unit has no such assignment with one of the chief reasons listed as the lack of enlisted men for training. The number of specified pay periods is based on two factors:

(1) The complexity of the unit training problems. That is, according to Col. Coulter, the amount of time necessary to train the unit to function.

(2) The relative date after Mobilization Day that the unit must be ready for field service.

This explained in lay language means that in an emergency a unit's relative mobilization day is the number of additional days granted the unit for mobilization after the call is issued.

Phone Workers Demonstration Not Likely Here

The tentative settlement yesterday in New York of a wage dispute between the Western Electric Company and some 25,000 telephone workers affiliated with the American Communication Equipment Workers, CIO, apparently removed any threat of a demonstration today by members of the union involved in that dispute.

Informed sources said the rumor of the demonstration probably arose from the fact that about 18 members of the union are now installing new equipment in Cumberland.

There were no indications that unions representing telephone workers in Cumberland would have been involved, however, it was reported.

The local unit of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers (Independent) reported their members cannot strike since a three-year no strike clause was included in an agreement with the company last July.

The MFTW will open wage negotiations with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company next Wednesday in Baltimore under a wage reopening clause in that contract, Robert Slemmer, vice president, said last night.

Chamber Directors Vote To Study New Price Rules

Committee Working On Parking Problem

Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce voted last night to undertake a study of the effect upon Cumberland area industries of the recent Supreme Court decision which rules out the base pricing system for American industry.

Harold W. Smith, secretary, said a Senate sub-committee headed by Senator Homer Capeheart is now studying the problem of freight absorption and delivered prices.

Considerable confusion has resulted since the steel industry dropped its traditional pricing system and began quoting prices at the mills after the "cement case" decision was announced.

It will be necessary, the group announced, to gather data both on the effect of the new system on products manufactured here and upon the change in prices in raw materials used by Cumberland industrial plants.

Have Open Minds

Smith said the Chamber of Commerce will embark on the survey with an open mind, adding that nobody can say, at present, whether this area would benefit by the old or new pricing system.

Under the previous system, competing mills would quote prices for a certain area and absorb the difference if any, in freight costs.

Also planned last night was a meeting to be held here Tuesday, October 12, on employer-employe communications with John Convery, from the National Association of Manufacturers, as speaker.

The plan calls for a 30 minute talk on what employers are doing under the Taft-Hartley Act as well as an open forum for discussion on industrial problems.

The study of the possibilities of a Fund Appeals Review Board will be continued, Smith said. Response so far has not been too enthusiastic but the group feels that a better understanding of the problem should be reached.

Want Parking Lot

The Highways and Transportation Committee reported it was still working on the possibilities of better parking lot facilities and said the George Street location still is the best location for such a project.

James R. Kendall, assistant secretary, was authorized to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries which will be held in Philadelphia October 10 to 13.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce have been invited to attend the formal opening and dedication of the Naval and Marine Reserve Armory Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Pool Attendance Totals 24,722 Paid Admissions

Inclement Weather Causes Decrease

Paid attendance at the Constitution Park swimming pool this season totaled 24,722, approximately 500 less than in 1947, according to A. H. Gehauf, pool manager.

In addition, 1,300 free admissions were reported. That group included members of the Police Boys Club, student nurses and servicemen, and Red Cross swimming instruction pupils.

The pool was officially open from June 6 to September 6 this year. Gehauf attributed the lower of paid admissions to the unusual amount of cool rainy weather this summer and also to the fact that the pool opened eight days later than in 1947.

Only two days in the 1948 season when attendance exceeded the 1,000 mark were on Sunday, June 27, with 1,108, and Sunday, July 4, when 1,148 persons used the pool.

An indication of the effect of bad weather on pool attendance is shown by the monthly breakdown. In June, 5,928 persons used the pool, while in July, the total nearly doubled, reaching 10,302. In August, the number declined sharply to 5,441, but from August 26 to September 6 a total of 3,051 paid admissions was reported.

Of the 24,722 total paid admissions this year, 12,775 were children and 11,947 were adults.

This compares with last year's total of 25,235, of which 11,681 were children and 13,554 were adults.

As was the case this year, in 1947 there were only two days with attendance over 1,000. On Friday, July 4, 1,005 persons used the pool, and on Sunday, June 29, 1,211 were reported.

Record one-day attendance in recent years was set Sunday, June 9, 1946, when 1,703 persons used the pool.

During the 1947 season the June attendance was 7,521; July was 9,619 and the August admissions totaled 7,682.

However, admissions totaled only 413 from August 26 of that year to September 1, when the pool closed.

Flags Being Displayed For Freedom Week

Merchants throughout the city are requested to display their curb flags daily during Rededication Week, members of the Freedom Train Committee suggested last night.

James J. Kloran, commander of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars said many merchants have new curb flags and more are being installed. Kloran called attention to the flag courtesy rules which require flags to be taken in before sun-down and displayed only after sunrise.

Numerious buildings throughout the city are being decorated for Rededication Week, and residents and property owners are all urged to display the national emblem during the week.

Delegates Differ On Question Of Voting Machines

Referendums Will Be Held This Fall

A proposal of the Legislative Council to make the use of voting machines mandatory throughout the state brought comments last night from two members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly.

One, John T. Fey, said he would oppose use of the machines in this county if the county had to bear the expense, as was provided in public local laws passed by the General Assembly last year.

Fey said that if the cost of the machines were borne by the state, however, he would not oppose the use of machines here. He clarified his statement by saying he thought the machines were "unnecessary" in a county the size of Allegany. He added he felt the expense of installing and maintaining the machines outweighed any benefits they might bring about.

The previously mentioned public local laws have not yet gone into effect because the Board of Allegany County Commissioners circulated petitions for referendums on the laws. Enough names were obtained on the petitions to hold the referendums this fall.

Geppert Favors Machines

Another member, William H. Geppert, a long-time proponent of the use of the machines here, said he voted for the measures last year because he felt the innovation would be a "progressive step." Geppert pointed out that voting machines have been "very successful" in Baltimore and in other counties.

Geppert, however, said his feelings toward the state-wide proposal would depend largely on the referendum this fall. If the county should oppose the mandatory use of voting machines, he said, he "would naturally oppose" any such legislation.

Fey, who is also attorney to the County Commissioners, was the only member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly to vote against the local laws which would have forced the county to purchase the machines.

Cost of machines in this county would amount to approximately $140,000, it was reported, as one would have to be installed at each polling place.

State Aid Plan

Under the recommendation of the Legislative Council, counties which felt they were not financially able to pay for the machines immediately would receive the necessary funds through a state bond issue, the state to be reimbursed by the counties over a period of years.

One proponent pointed out at the Council session that experience in Howard County, where machines were installed last spring, indicated the county would save enough in five elections to cover the cost of the machines.

However, Fey said he was inclined to place the figure close to 15 years because, he said, proponents failed to consider the expense of storing the machines and of keeping them in good condition.

The petitions for referenda on the local laws were filed May 31, 1947, by Mayor Thomas S. Post with John B. Funk, who was then Secretary of State.

At the time, Post commented he was acting as an individual citizen and not as mayor.

(The law provides that a referendum may be obtained through a petition containing the names of 10 per cent of the voters in the previous gubernatorial election. The figure for Allegany County in this case was approximately 2,327.)

Sales Tax Case Filed In Kent

The state comptroller's office in Baltimore announced yesterday that warrants have been served on Ralph O. Hall, trading as Kitty Knight House, in Georgetown, Kent County, on charges of unlawfully and wilfully failing to collect and pay to the state comptroller, retail sales tax in total amount of $547.52.

Hall is also charged with failing to file sales tax returns.

In a separate warrant, Hall was charged with failing to file a state income tax return for the calendar year 1947.

After warrants in the three cases were served against him, Hall posted bond of $1,000.

State's Attorney A. Parks Rasin, Jr., is to prosecute.

The proceedings, first of their kind to be filed in Kent County, are evidence of more stringent enforcement of state tax laws, a policy recently announced by James J. Lacy, state comptroller.

Police Order Gypsy Band To Leave County

Set Up Camp Briefly At Local Fair Ground

A band of gypsies, men, women and children, last night were ordered out of Allegany County shortly after they set up their colony at the Fair Grounds and began the ancient gypsie practice of telling fortunes.

The group, numbering more than 50, were spotted by county authorities last night at Fairgo, where the five-day Greater Cumberland Fair is in progress, and were immediately ordered out of the county. They are forbidden by law to set up camp in Allegany County.

Law enforcement officers said the band was gathered together and instructed to begin packing immediately for eviction from Allegany County. After close to an hour of preparations the gypsie cars began moving with orders not to stop until they crossed the state line.

Authorities said they were not escorted to the line, but they assumed the band headed into West Virginia. Local authorities said they are not familiar with the laws in the neighboring state and did not know if the group would be allowed to camp in any section there.

At the time they were spotted, officers assigned to the Fair Grounds said, the adult members were soliciting trade in the fortune telling business.

The women and children were dressed in the colorful regalia long associated with the gypsie bands that have roamed the highways in the United States for many years.

The men of the band were dressed in modern day fashion and busied themselves with securing the encampment which was hurriedly set up late yesterday afternoon when the gypsies arrived.

Authorities said they were unable to learn where the band migrated from or where they were camping before coming here. No arrests were made, enforcement officers said, since the band headed the initial warning and began packing immediately.

No complaints of "gypsie activities" were regestered with any of the local law enforcement agencies, the officers said.

Apples By-Pass Martinsburg

Apples from this area are reported moving to market in quantities despite a strike which has tied up the Martinsburg packing plant of the National Fruit Products Company for the past two weeks.

Fruit growers in the Levels and Romney area and some Hancock orchardists have been forced to route the fruit to other processing plants, it was reported.

Growers in the rich Tri-State apple belt moved their harvest to market in volume this week as the federal conciliation service took further steps to end the two-week-old strike at the Martinsburg plant of the National Fruit Products Company.

The service has scheduled another bargaining meeting here Thursday between management of the processing plant and representatives of District 50, United Mine Workers Union. The mine workers represent the 125 men who walked off their jobs at the plant about two weeks ago.

The contract between the company and its workers expired some two months ago. Several fruitless negotiating sessions were held before the workers walked off their jobs.

Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia growers are marketing their Jonathan, Red Delicious and Grimes apples at this time. The heaviest yields for the belt this year are expected from the Rome and York varieties which will not be harvested until next month.

The Grimes crop, showing some rust damage from frost, is facing a comparatively poor market. The market is active, however, for Jonathan and Red Delicious.

Fort Hill High Band To March In Parade

Two more organizations, one an outstanding high school band and the other a Ridgeley, W. Va., veterans organizations yesterday accepted bids to march in the Veterans' Day Parade here Monday night as part of this area's Rededication Week activities, Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshall, announced.

They are the Fort Hill High School Band of this city, and Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley. Other organizations who wish a place in the line of march, and an invitation has been extended to any group which desires to take part in the Freedom demonstration, should phone 807 for placement.

The Weather

The weather man cast a friendly eye about yesterday as he predicted continued sunny and fair weather with little change in temperature. Mercury climbed to a maximum of 78, the same as the day before, but in early morning hours dropped to a chilly minimum of 49 above. The temperature last night at 11 o'clock was officially, a not uncomfortable 63, just six degrees warmer than the previous night at the same time.

CAB Decision Is Termed Step For Air Service Here

Hearing Planned Within 60 Days

An All American Aviation airline official termed "a step in the right direction" toward providing passenger air service in Cumberland the recommendation of a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner that the line's application for the suspension of its certificate on Route 49 be granted, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported yesterday.

Smith said Senator Herbert O'Conor wired yesterday that the Civil Aeronautics Board informed him the application of All American Aviation, Inc., for the suspension of its certificate on Route 49 had been approved.

Senator O'Conor added he hoped the move would clarify the situation with regard to the initiation of service to and from the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The line has been operating air pick up service with no right to carry passengers.

D. L. Miller, traffic manager of the line, clarified the report in a telephone conversation with Smith, saying the action was only the recommendation of an examiner of the board. He said oral argument on the petition will be scheduled before the board within 60 days.

The company is seeking to have its present certificate on Route 49 suspended in order to clear the way for a later application which covers passengers as well as mail service.

Approval of the latter application cannot be made until the present certificate of operation is suspended.

The company has reported it could initiate service in Cumberland by next February or March if the proper certificate is granted and certain technical difficulties solved.

Returning Milk Bottles To Dealers Urged

Health Officer Cites Regulations

Stating that "entirely too many" discarded milk bottles are finding their way into garbage cans, trash cans and the city dump, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, yesterday urged Cumberland residents to return the bottles to milk dealers instead of throwing them away.

Local dairy firms estimate that failure of householders to return the empty bottles means that from 20,000 to 30,000 milk bottles must be replaced monthly at a cost of from $1,200 to $3,000.

The penny charge made for the bottles by local grocers reduces the loss to some extent, however, dairy officials said.

Although area dairies have been able to obtain replacements, trouble is being experienced in other cities because of container shortage and increased cost of the bottles.

Dr. Frantz pointed out that it is unlawful to permit the use of any containers used in the processing or packing of milk or milk products for any other purpose whatsoever.

In addition, the law provides that no person to whom milk or milk products have been delivered in returnable containers may use the containers for any other purpose.

Empty milk bottles should be thoroughly cleaned and returned to the distributor, Dr. Frantz said.

275 Appointments Made For Orthopedic Clinic

Approximately 275 appointments have been made for county children at the regular orthopedic clinic to be held today and tomorrow at headquarters of Allegany County League for Crippled Children, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary.

Dr. George Bennett, Dr. George Eaton and Dr. E. David Weinberg, all of the staff of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, will conduct the clinic.

Mrs. Annan said clinic hours today will be from 8:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. and tomorrow from 8:30 a. m. until noon.

Traffic Bureau Plans Main Stem "Speed Up"

Plans to drain traffic off of Baltimore Street "much faster" were begun yesterday as the Traffic Department marked new channels to be followed by motorists over Henderson Avenue and Park Street.

The Henderson Avenue change, minor in nature, is expected to avoid long lines of waiting automobiles that are delayed by motorists seeking to cross blocked railroad tracks.

The program calls for two lanes of west bound traffic, according to Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, who explained that all west bound through traffic will keep to the extreme right. Motorists turning into streets leading to the business secion will use the middle lane.

Channels To Be Marked

The channels were laid out yesterday and will be painted this morning. Lt. Lilya said efforts to keep all through traffic in the right lane will prevent motorists waiting for a clear crossing from tying up all traffic.

On Park Street a similar procedure will be followed with traffic seeking to reach Henderson Avenue by use of the Route 40 by pass keeping to the extreme right. Traffic headed toward Baltimore Street will use the middle lane.

This again, Lt. Lilya explained, will prevent motorists blocked at the Baltimore Street railroad crossing from tying up all traffic. With this plan being followed the YMCA Circle will be kept free of all traffic when trains have the crossing blocked.

Don't Block The Other Fellow

With open lanes waiting to receive traffic that has been blocked on Baltimore Street by the train once the crossing is cleared, the congested traffic will be able to drain off the main artery quickly.

For persons who have trouble understanding the procedure the rule is simply this: If you are going to take a route that may be delayed by a train get in the middle lane. This will hold good on either Henderson Avenue or Park Street.

LAST DRAFT GROUP IS BEING REGISTERED

The last group of men 18 through 25 to register in the peacetime draft will sign up today and tomorrow, local draft officials announced yesterday.

After Saturday, youths of this section who became 18 have five days to report to Selective Service headquarters on the second floor of the Windsor Hotel.

Persons who were unable to enroll during the two-week registration period should sign up as soon as possible, but for the rest of the week that registration will be in the schools only.

FOE To Be First Fraternal Group In Cresaptown

When John T. Corrigan, deputy grand auditor of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, institutes a new Eagles Aerie at Cresaptown Monday night, the Eagles will have established the first fraternal organization in that community.

Herman L. Myers, member of the Maryland Organization Board of the Eagles, said last night that the order, realizing the rapid growth of Cresaptown, started a survey of the town and the surrounding area last December.

As a result of the survey it was decided to allocate a charter for the area, which was done July 1. Myers said that, although the Firemen's Hall in Cresaptown is the present meeting place, the Eagles plan to have a home of their own as soon as possible.

Myers said the institution will take place at 7:30 p. m. The organizer said he expected more than 100 charter members to attend the institution and initiation.

Myers has predicted the aerie will reach a membership of 300 within the year.

Retirement Plan Explained To ORC Unit Members

Means Of Obtaining Points Discussed

In a sketchy manner members of the 208th Composit Unit of the Army Organized Reserve Corps, learned last night how they can, under existing regulations, qualify for retirement, promotion and inactive status pay.

The speaker who addressed the unit was Col. Carleton Coulter, Jr., senior instructor of the Organized Reserves of the Maryland Military District.

For retirement, Col. Coulter said, reservists must have 20 years of satisfactory service, either active, inactive, or both. To qualify for inactive service, as satisfactory, he said, it is necessary to accumulate 50 points a year.

This can be obtained through three basic channels and a series of lesser training periods or correspondence courses. The reservist received 15 points for belonging to a reserve unit and one point for each drill or lecture period attended.

Through these two regulations, 208th reservists can possibly accumulate 39 points a year, leaving 11 points that must be obtained annually to qualify him for retirement at the age of 65.

Summer Training

One means of obtaining the additional points needed is by attendance at summer camp for a two-weeks period each year while correspondence courses offered by Army-approved units is another means.

These were the only avenues to retirement discussed last night in any detail, but Col. Coulter said it is his belief that "any reservist who sets out to do it, can obtain the necessary retirement qualificaions."

For promoions which are open to enlisted men of the AOR as well as officers the first requirement is that there be an existing vacancy. Then the reservist applying for promotion must have the previous qualifications.

Such qualifications can be obtained, Col. Coulter said, by a period of active service in the lower grade plus graduation from a service school appropriate to the reservist's Army component and grade.

Promotion Qualifications

Also considered as promotion qualification material is six months service in a grade by an applicant during World War II. This the colonel explained means that if a man served in a capacity requiring a grade that he was not promoted to, it is qualification material.

Pay for reservists appeared to be the point furtherist removed from the 208th unit's reservist, according to the explanation last night for the training unit must have a specified number of drill periods assigned to it by the Army Department.

The local unit has no such assignment with one of the chief reasons listed as the lack of enlisted men for training. The number of specified pay periods is based on two factors:

(1) The complexity of the unit training problems. That is, according to Col. Coulter, the amount of time necessary to train the unit to function.

(2) The relative date after Mobilization Day that the unit must be ready for field service.

This explained in lay language means that in an emergency a unit's relative mobilization day is the number of additional days granted the unit for mobilization after the call is issued.

Phone Workers Demonstration Not Likely Here

The tentative settlement yesterday in New York of a wage dispute between the Western Electric Company and some 25,000 telephone workers affiliated with the American Communication Equipment Workers, CIO, apparently removed any threat of a demonstration today by members of the union involved in that dispute.

Informed sources said the rumor of the demonstration probably arose from the fact that about 18 members of the union are now installing new equipment in Cumberland.

There were no indications that unions representing telephone workers in Cumberland would have been involved, however, it was reported.

The local unit of the Maryland Federation of Telephone Workers (Independent) reported their members cannot strike since a three-year no strike clause was included in an agreement with the company last July.

The MFTW will open wage negotiations with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company next Wednesday in Baltimore under a wage reopening clause in that contract, Robert Slemmer, vice president, said last night.

Chamber Directors Vote To Study New Price Rules

Committee Working On Parking Problem

Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce voted last night to undertake a study of the effect upon Cumberland area industries of the recent Supreme Court decision which rules out the base pricing system for American industry.

Harold W. Smith, secretary, said a Senate sub-committee headed by Senator Homer Capeheart is now studying the problem of freight absorption and delivered prices.

Considerable confusion has resulted since the steel industry dropped its traditional pricing system and began quoting prices at the mills after the "cement case" decision was announced.

It will be necessary, the group announced, to gather data both on the effect of the new system on products manufactured here and upon the change in prices in raw materials used by Cumberland industrial plants.

Have Open Minds

Smith said the Chamber of Commerce will embark on the survey with an open mind, adding that nobody can say, at present, whether this area would benefit by the old or new pricing system.

Under the previous system, competing mills would quote prices for a certain area and absorb the difference if any, in freight costs.

Also planned last night was a meeting to be held here Tuesday, October 12, on employer-employe communications with John Convery, from the National Association of Manufacturers, as speaker.

The plan calls for a 30 minute talk on what employers are doing under the Taft-Hartley Act as well as an open forum for discussion on industrial problems.

The study of the possibilities of a Fund Appeals Review Board will be continued, Smith said. Response so far has not been too enthusiastic but the group feels that a better understanding of the problem should be reached.

Want Parking Lot

The Highways and Transportation Committee reported it was still working on the possibilities of better parking lot facilities and said the George Street location still is the best location for such a project.

James R. Kendall, assistant secretary, was authorized to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries which will be held in Philadelphia October 10 to 13.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce have been invited to attend the formal opening and dedication of the Naval and Marine Reserve Armory Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Pool Attendance Totals 24,722 Paid Admissions

Inclement Weather Causes Decrease

Paid attendance at the Constitution Park swimming pool this season totaled 24,722, approximately 500 less than in 1947, according to A. H. Gehauf, pool manager.

In addition, 1,300 free admissions were reported. That group included members of the Police Boys Club, student nurses and servicemen, and Red Cross swimming instruction pupils.

The pool was officially open from June 6 to September 6 this year. Gehauf attributed the lower of paid admissions to the unusual amount of cool rainy weather this summer and also to the fact that the pool opened eight days later than in 1947.

Only two days in the 1948 season when attendance exceeded the 1,000 mark were on Sunday, June 27, with 1,108, and Sunday, July 4, when 1,148 persons used the pool.

An indication of the effect of bad weather on pool attendance is shown by the monthly breakdown. In June, 5,928 persons used the pool, while in July, the total nearly doubled, reaching 10,302. In August, the number declined sharply to 5,441, but from August 26 to September 6 a total of 3,661 paid admissions was reported.

Of the 24,722 total paid admissions this year, 12,775 were children and 11,947 were adults.

This compares with last year's total of 25,235, of which 11,681 were children and 13,554 were adults.

As was the case this year, in 1947 there were only two days with attendance over 1,000. On Friday, July 4, 1,005 persons used the pool, and on Sunday, June 29, 1,211 were reported.

Record one-day attendance in recent years was set Sunday, June 9, 1946, when 1,703 persons used the pool.

During the 1947 season the June attendance was 7,521; July was 9,619 and the August admissions totaled 7,682.

However, admissions totaled only 413 from August 26 of that year to September 1, when the pool closed.

Flags Being Displayed For Freedom Week

Merchants throughout the city are requested to display their curb flags daily during Rededication Week, members of the Freedom Train Committee suggested last night.

James J. Kloran, commander of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars said many merchants have new curb flags and more are being installed. Kloran called attention to the flag courtesy rules which require flags to be taken in before sun-down and displayed only after sunrise.

Numerious buildings throughout the city are being decorated for Rededication Week, and residents and property owners are all urged to display the national emblem during the week.

Delegates Differ On Question Of Voting Machines

Referendums Will Be Held This Fall

A proposal of the Legislative Council to make the use of voting machines mandatory throughout the state brought comments last night from two members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly.

One, John T. Fey, said he would oppose use of the machines in this county if the county had to bear the expense, as was provided in public local laws passed by the General Assembly last year.

Fey said that if the cost of the machines were borne by the state, however, he would not oppose the use of machines here. He clarified his statement by saying he thought the machines were "unnecessary" in a county the size of Allegany. He added he felt the expense of installing and maintaining the machines outweighed any benefits they might bring about.

The previously mentioned public local laws have not yet gone into effect because the Board of Allegany County Commissioners circulated petitions for referendums on the laws. Enough names were obtained on the petitions to hold the referendums this fall.

Geppert Favors Machines

Another member, William H. Geppert, a long-time proponent of the use of the machines here, said he voted for the measures last year because he felt the innovation would be a "progressive step." Geppert pointed out that voting machines have been "very successful" in Baltimore and in other counties.

Geppert, however, said his feelings toward the state-wide proposal would depend largely on the referendum this fall. If the county should oppose the mandatory use of voting machines, he said, he "would naturally oppose" any such legislation.

Fey, who is also attorney to the County Commissioners, was the only member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly to vote against the local laws which would have forced the county to purchase the machines.

Cost of machines in this county would amount to approximately $140,000, it was reported, as one would have to be installed at each polling place.

State Aid Plan

Under the recommendation of the Legislative Council, counties which felt they were not financially able to pay for the machines immediately would receive the necessary funds through a state bond issue, the state to be reimbursed by the counties over a period of years.

One proponent pointed out at the Council session that experience in Howard County, where machines were installed last spring, indicated the county would save enough in five elections to cover the cost of the machines.

However, Fey said he was inclined to place the figure close to 15 years because, he said, proponents failed to consider the expense of storing the machines and of keeping them in good condition.

The petitions for referenda on the local laws were filed May 31, 1947, by Mayor Thomas S. Post with John B. Funk, who was then Secretary of State.

At the time, Post commented he was acting as an individual citizen and not as mayor.

(The law provides that a referendum may be obtained through a petition containing the names of 10 per cent of the voters in the previous gubernatorial election. The figure for Allegany County in this case was approximately 2,327.)

Sales Tax Case Filed In Kent

The state comptroller's office in Baltimore announced yesterday that warrants have been served on Ralph O. Hall, trading as Kitty Knight House, in Georgetown, Kent County, on charges of unlawfully and wilfully failing to collect and pay to the state comptroller, retail sales tax in total amount of $547.52.

Hall is also charged with failing to file sales tax returns.

In a separate warrant, Hall was charged with failing to file a state income tax return for the calendar year 1947.

After warrants in the three cases were served against him, Hall posted bond of $1,000.

State's Attorney A. Parks Rasin, Jr., is to prosecute.

The proceedings, first of their kind to be filed in Kent County, are evidence of more stringent enforcement of state tax laws, a policy recently announced by James J. Lacy, state comptroller.

Bills Of Complaint

Mary Steward Branson by her mother and next friend, Evelyn A. Steward, against Grover Paul Branson; Yvonne Fadley against Ralph Fadley; Leona Davis against Ezra Davis; LaVerne Condon against James J. Condon.
